New faces

As the beginning of the year rolled around, there were many changes at East High, but none were as noticeable as the new faces of the administration.

Mr. Jerry Stilwell became our new principal, while Mr. Mike Zelenovich and Mr. Gary Jotzke joined the East High ranks as new vice-principals. Mr. Gary Eyerly was the only returning administrator.

Students enjoy the "new look" of the gym floor during gym class. The design looked very professional and greatly increased the spirit of East High.

New places

Students noticed something different when they walked into the gym in the fall. The floor had been completely redesigned and painted. This new floor was designed by an East High alumnus, David Shellabarger. Dr. Barbara Prior, former principal, and Mr. Martin Mohler, industrial arts teacher, also helped with the design. It has been 12 years since the big gym floor was sanded down and re-finished. The Des Moines school system does each gym floor every 10 to 15 years.

Also started this year was a new sports complex, with plans to complete the complex over the next two years. It will eventually include a new lighted baseball field, two practice fields and the paving of two parking lots. The project also involved the closing of two streets, East 15th Street between Walker and Fremont, which will become a walkway for students, and Fremont from East 14th to East 15th.

Funding for the project will come from a tax-levy proposal (if passed) voted on a ballot in the spring of 1989. Additional money will be provided by the Booster Club and other East High supporting organizations.

To avoid traffic problems, the city closed E. 15th Street between Walker and Fremont. The street will eventually become a walkway for students.

New spaces

Those of us who drove to school this year received a great surprise the first day. The potholes, dust and dirt that characterized the old parking lot in front of the school were finally gone. The lot was paved last summer in an effort to improve parking conditions and beautify the East High campus.

"East High has the most beautiful campus in Des Moines," said Principal Jerry Stilwell, "Now, you don't have to look through dust to see it."

The money used to pave the 240-car lot—$94,500—was obtained from a tax levy passed by Des Moines seven years ago. This money was approved for renovations of the buildings and grounds of the Des Moines public schools.

Half of the lot is used for students; the other half is for teachers. Lights will be installed in the teachers' lot to provide lighting for night activities.

The lots' renovations began in mid-June and were finished in the first week of August. The work was done by Des Moines Asphalt Company.

Dirt, potholes, and wheel-thrown rocks characteristic of the old lot were no longer a problem with the paving of the new lot across from the main building.

Students cheered the new improved parking lot and their clean cars. "I think it's bigger and better than before," commented junior David Gonzalez.

NEW LOOKS

Students participated in many new and exciting events during their spare time. The most popular activities were football and basketball games on Friday nights, but students also kept busy with other activities.

During the fall semester of the election year, many students worked part-time at the campaign offices of the presidential candidates. There were four students who put in many extra hours. They were Stefanie Kitchel, senior, 21 hours; Charissa Nester, senior, 10½ hours; Tracy Saville and Shawn Hatfield, both sophomores, 20 hours each.

Students attended dances and plays throughout the year. Homecoming was held Oct. 8, and the theme song was "Groovy Kind of Love" by Phil Collins. The over-all theme was "Sharing the Night Together." The annual 128 formal dance was held Dec. 23. The overall theme was "A Masquerade Ball," and the theme song was "Just Between You and Me," by April Wine. "To Kill a Mocking Bird" was the fall-winter play this year. It was held Dec. 1 and 3.

During the summer of 1988, junior Betty Bartram spent her entire vacation playing volleyball. She began her tryouts at Simpson College in Indianola. Then she continued on to Chicago, Ill. and Kansas City, Mo., for preliminary tryouts. She went on to Fort Collins, Colo., for her final tryout in the Junior Olympics. From among the 100 athletes, Betty was chosen as one of the top 12.

Students enjoy themselves at a recent football game. This was a common pastime for students during the football season.

Student Involvement during East's Homecoming Week sparks spirit throughout school year of 1988-9

Homecoming Week is one of the most exciting weeks of the school year. During the week students were able to put their all into promoting school spirit, even if it meant looking ridiculous.

The week included T-Shirt, Hat, Shades and Boxer Days. Many students got involved in these activities for they gave the girls a chance to dress up in their most comfortable attire and the guys a chance to wear hats. These days provided a great start for the spirit and enthusiasm that was shown during the week.

On Tuesday or "Twos" Day, students were allowed to become twins for a day. Throughout the day many students could be seen dressed exactly like someone else. This created some confusion around the school, for it was hard to distinguish some students from their look-a-likes.

Wednesday was a real "blast from the past" because it was Hippie and Tie-Dye Day. On this day, it was no surprise to see students wearing bell-bottoms, butterfly collars and shirts dyed in an assortment of colors. Also, to make the nostalgic scene complete, students could be seen making peace signs and saying "flower power."

The highlight of Wednesday was the annual powder-puff game. Once again the seniors and the freshmen competed against the juniors and the sophomores. Although the junior-sophomore team was fired up and ready to play, the senior-freshmen team was once again victorious. The powder-puff game was no ordinary football game; in fact, it was just the opposite. The girls played and the guys cheered.

"Pull" . . . "Pull . . ." These are some of the gasps heard by seniors Chris Wood, Cindy Jo Greenwood and Diane Dyer as they struggle to win the tug-of-war game held during Homecoming week. While the game is going on, Yvette Van De Boe, Bonnie Henning, Michelle Noble, Angie Handley and Heather McNally decide to do a less strenuous activity: be spectators. Many students attended the pep rally and got involved in the events which followed.

The powder-puff cheerleaders were definitely a sight to see, for they brought enthusiasm and humor to the game. They also gave a new meaning to the word "cheerleader."

Thursday was Dress-up Day. Many young ladies and young men dressed up in dresses and slacks to show their school spirit and to take a break from ordinary, everyday dress.

Many exciting events took place Thursday evening. They were the tug-of-war, the pep rally and the mixer. Many students attended these activities to have fun and to show their school spirit.

Friday was Spirit Day and the end of Homecoming Week. Students and faculty put on their red and black to show their spirit and pride in East High.

Brian Haws, senior, concentrates on learning a new cheer before the powder-puff game. The powder-puff cheerleaders provided laughter and spirit throughout the game.

Homecoming: "groovy" assembly, dance

Saturday, Oct. 8, from 8 to 11 p.m., students were "Sharing the Night Together" at the Homecoming Dance. The colors emerald green, pink and silver decorated the large gym for this "groovy" night. The dress for this occasion was semi-formal. Couples could get their pictures taken in front of a backdrop set up in the small gym. These pictures were taken by Mr. John Lethcoe, photography instructor. Snapshots were provided by Jolesch Photography. In general, everyone enjoyed the dance because of the music, organization and good friends they were with that night.

Student Government did all of the preparation for this night, including selling tickets, providing the band and choosing the song and theme. About 400 tickets were sold at $10 each. "Celebrations Mobile Music" from Sioux City was the main entertainment. The song chosen was Phil Collins' "Groovy Kind of Love" and the theme was "Sharing the Night Together."

At the assembly organized by Student Government, Cheerleaders, Steppers, Color Guard, Pep "E" Club, Silent Vibrations and several other groups participated. The Scarlet football team and its managers were introduced. Finally came the highlight of the assembly when the attendants and Homecoming queen were announced. Everyone anticipated the new queen's first walk.

The 1988 Homecoming Court included freshman Tammie Chamberlain escorted by freshman Josh Hanson, sophomore Teresa Holtorf escorted by sophomore Chad Knight, junior Paige Ackerman escorted by alumnus Mike Davis, senior Missy Davis escorted by senior Rocky Matthias, senior Ginny DuBois escorted by Lincoln alumnus Jeff Baker, senior Cindy Greenwood escorted by alumnus Dennis Bracewell, senior McCeil King escorted by senior Dave Maxwell, senior Jodi Stout escorted by senior Scott Formaro.

"Being the Homecoming queen was the greatest honor I have received in my life. It was a dream I never thought could come true. After receiving this honor, I realize that whatever I dream for in life can come true," said senior McCeil King about being chosen by student body vote to be the Homecoming queen.

Spree: 'An Evening of Romance'

“An Evening of Romance,” sponsored by Pep “E” Club, was held Saturday, Dec. 4, in the East High cafeteria. Couples danced the night away to music provided by the band “Teazer.”

Dancers who took a break found other means of entertainment. The “marriage” booth was set up so “young hearts in love” could be “wed” by Mr. Ross Heaton. Wedding bands and marriage certificates were given to the couples. “Madame Fortune Teller (Mrs. Susan Stroope) read palms and told the future. Le Cafe provided refreshments and a place to rest. Couples’ pictures were taken in the small gym by Mr. John Lethcoe, photography instructor. Candid shots were taken by McKenna Photography.

Pep “E” Club members spent many hours the night before decorating for the dance. Two giant balloon-covered hearts were hung by the dance floor. Members also made heart-shaped wall signs with couples’ names on them; the couples found the signs and took them home as souvenirs. The dance colors were pink, red and white. The song chosen for the dance this year was “All of My Love” by Led Zeppelin.

A highlight of the evening was the crowning of the Spinster Spree king and queen. They were seniors Darin Adams and Gina Garcia. Other members of the court were juniors Betty Bartram and Richie Young, sophomores Laura Spaulding and Tom Shelton, and freshmen Traci Fisher and Barrett Rogness.

Tickets were sold for $10 per couple. Over 250 couples and 40 chaperones attended the dance. It is tradition for the girl to ask the guy, pay for the ticket and treat him to dinner. It is a tradition that has been upheld for many years.

Seniors Gina Garcia and Darin Adams smile brightly after being crowned 1989 Spree king and queen.

Senior Jason VanBuskirk, senior Diane Dyer, and juniors Jenny Henry, Marcy Peterson and Willie Brown decorate the balloon-covered hearts that hung by the dance floor. Pep “E” Club members spent many hours decorating the cafeteria, cafeteria lobby and the teachers’ dining room for the dance. They also made the wall signs and programs.

Mr. Heaton dubs seniors Scott Shepherd & Stephanie Boers "sincere acquaintances."

Lazy? No, just tired! After long planning sessions, these hostesses helped put all ideas discussed together to decorate for the dance. Decorating for this dance was a tiresome act that led these 10 hostesses to decide to rest. The decorating for the dance took a couple of hours to complete. This just shows you how hard seniors were willing to work.

These are just some of the many decorations seen at the dance. Putting all the decorations in the right

Balloons, glass elevators, trees — an exotic paradise? No, just the tropical setting of this year's 12-B Formal Dance. The dance was held at the University Park Holiday Inn

Dec. 23.

Hosting the dance were 50 senior girls and Mrs. Gwenn Copple, foreign language teacher. Hosting this dance was a long, tiresome, but worthwhile experience. The preparations for the dance included choosing colors, a theme, a band, a location, a time, and wine goblets, as well as designing wall decorations and finding the "perfect" dress and the "perfect" date.

"Just Between You and Me" was the theme song for the dance. The band that played the music at the dance was the band Life Force. The color scheme was metallic blue, black and silver.

Pictures at the dance were taken by the companies Grant Photography and Mullica-McKenna Portrait Studio. "A picture is worth a thousand words" was seen in the pictures that were taken by the two companies.

As a reward for all their hard work and dedication, each senior hostess received a traditional wine goblet. The goblets also will be filled with many great memories that will last a lifetime.

Whether they were freshmen, sophomores, juniors or seniors, all East High students have always had one thing in common: They need and always needed money. To get money, the students had to go out and join America's work force.

The search for a job sometimes wasn't an easy one. A student often had to apply at several places before he or she was even asked to come in for an interview. However, once a student did get a job, he or she soon received that most coveted of acquisitions: A paycheck.

Junior Dena Pelham, an employee of Hy-Vee, said of her job, "Having a job has been a benefit to me in many areas of my life. I've learned how to work with people of all types, handle rude customers, and be positive when I want to scream; But best of all — the fun and experience of having my own money."

Junior Paul Fensterman, who is also an employee of Hy-Vee, said, "The best part of having a job is that you have money for yourself and it prepares you for your future."

Trayce Ainsworth and senior Annette Kisner. These and many other actors and helpers spent numerous hours on this stage before and after school to reach perfection.

Play Production crew proves potential

The 1988-89 Play Production group had quite a busy year. First-semester Play Production performed "Go Ask Alice" and "To Kill A Mockingbird." Both of these plays had to do with very controversial yet critical issues. "Go Ask Alice" dealt with teenage problems, while "To Kill A Mockingbird" dealt with racial conflicts. Play Production I was taught by Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines, director of the Drama Department.

During the second semester, students in Play Production (Theater Arts) performed the musical play, "Once Upon A Mattress," which is one version of the legendary "The Princess and the Pea." Musical plays are difficult to perform and produce because of the many hours of practice required for both spoken and sung lines. The Theater Arts class was taught by Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines, drama instructor, and Mr. Kent Keating, director of vocal music. The combined drama and musical talents of Ms. Gaines and Mr. Keating were great factors in the enrichment of East's performing arts students.

Juniors Nicole Lester, Lisa Ludwig and Michelle Petty engage in a big hug after the play "To Kill A Mockingbird." Their big smiles were proof that the play was a success, and that their hard work paid off.

The actors and actresses were helped by other students in their class who were assigned to various crews to assist in times of need.

It all happened in '88

The year 1988 affected us all. The drought brought higher prices because of the low number of products produced by farmers. Little to no rain brought drought conditions so serious that they caused forest fires. Forest fires caused the loss of homes, animals and beautiful land.

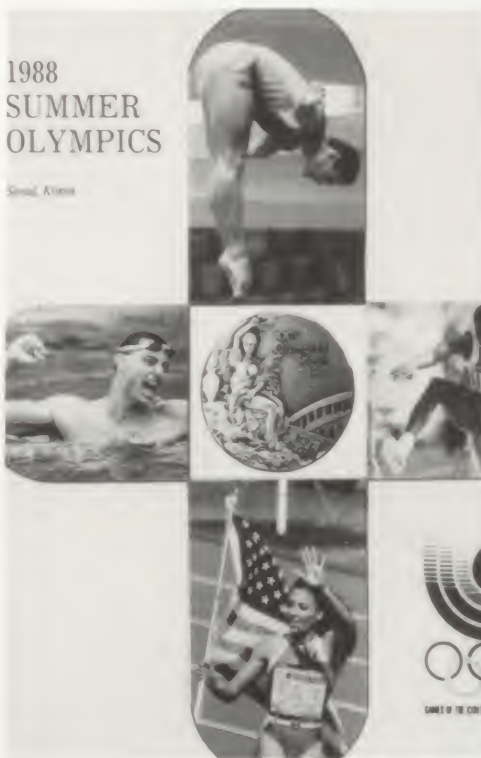

Seoul, Korea, brought us glory and pain, from winning the gold in diving to being deprived of it in boxing.

With debates over the dreaded "L" (Liberal) word to debates over foreign policy, the 1988 presidential contest between the two major front runners, Massachusetts Governor Michael Dukakis and Vice-president George Bush, was a dreadful affair. Name-calling was more of an issue than the economy or foreign policy. With the election of Vice-president Bush came words, "Read my lips, I will not raise taxes."

At press time in December, 1988, he had not raised taxes, but there seemed to be no other solution; taxes would have to be raised.

watched helplessly as their crops went dry. As the crops went dry, so did the hopes of farmers.

Forest fires spread throughout the western country in the summer of 1988, destroying millions of acres of national parkland. The most heavily damaged was Yellowstone National Park.

NEW BOOKS

New additions and the election year brought new challenges to the academic departments.

There were two new changes in the Math Department. Mr. John Brown, a student teacher, traveled around from class to class helping the math teachers work with their students. A new McIntosh Computer was installed in Mr. Andy Shaffer's room for both teachers and students to use.

Also continued this year was the Des Moines Plan. In this program a system of computers and other teaching equipment was installed to help students learn.

In the Textiles and Clothing class of the Home Economics Department, a new computerized sewing machine was added.

During the fall, over 200 East High students acquired hands-on experience in election politics as they visited the candidates, learned about the election process, worked for parties and voted with other district students in a mock election.

Out of one-and-one-half million students, senior Chris Gering was chosen as one of the 16,000 semi-finalists because of his 198 score on the PSAT, National Merit Qualifying Scholarship Test. If chosen as one of the 6,000 finalists, he could eventually receive room and board, books and tuition at almost any college of his choice.

Senior Shian Wickham also received a commended-scholar award for her 197 score on the same test.

Junior Nivola Lester prepared to mix two chemicals together, while junior Darrin Powers watches. This was a common sight during the year in the chemistry lab.

ACADEMICS

Counselors help plan students' futures

Whether it was needed college information, accidentally getting into the wrong class, or just adding or dropping a class, our seven hard-working counselors were always there to help.

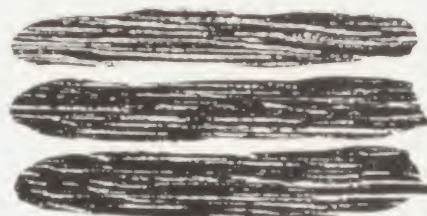

For the second year in a row, the Counseling Department has had a program called GIS (Guidance Information System). It is an Apple Computer program that helps students make college selections. The program can also help students get occupational and military information. Over all, the counselors agreed that helping students was a top priority. Mr. Paul Poehlein, chairperson of the Counseling Department, commented, "The doors are always open."

Mr. Poehlein counseled the eleventh grade, N-Z; Mr. Harold Baeth — eleventh, A-M; Mr. Jack Bryan — ninth, A-E and tenth, L-Z; Mrs. Norma Needham — ninth, L-R and tenth, L-Z; Mrs. Jean Pillers — ninth, S-Z and twelfth, A-K; Mr. Harold Olsen — ninth, F-K and twelfth, L-Z; Mrs. Carol White — School Within a School.

"We have seven caring people in the Counseling Department who are dedicated to assisting students whatever their needs may be, regarding education, future goals and personal problems." — Mr. Harold Baeth, counselor.

While looking through pamphlets, Mrs. Jean Pillers gives advice to senior Carla Pitts on choosing a college.

Hard work pays off for letterwinners

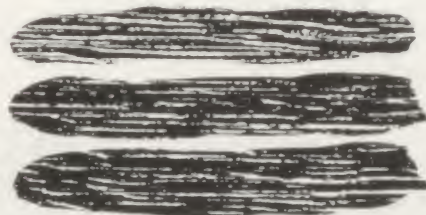

Into the fourth year of awarding letters, the Academic Letter program continued, and 46 students were awarded letters for their academic performance in the 1988-89 school year.

This program is sponsored by the Academic Subcommittee of the Building Climate Committee. The awards were given to the students Monday, Sept. 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium.

Students must keep a grade-point average of 3.6 for two consecutive semesters and carry five academic subjects, not including Physical Education, to be awarded an academic letter. This requires a lot of hard work from achieving students who truly deserve it.

Four seniors earned their third academic letter by the beginning of their senior year. They are Rod Chamberlain, Mary Coe, Dana Danley, and Chris Gering. These four seniors worked hard for their academic letters.

Third-year letterwinner Rod Chamberlain is awarded his much-deserved Academic Letter by Principal Jerry Stilwell. Receiving such an award is a real honor.

different courses in the Art Department.

Education is stressed in many different areas at East

Developing a high order of thinking skills, developing visual perception and making the ordinary become extraordinary are the major points stressed by Mr. Steve Sams and Mr. Jerry Goodrich in the Art Department.

Visual perception is stressed to help the "artist" observe an object in great detail. High-order thinking skills help improve the creativity of the "artist." When combining these two elements, the "artist" is taking the ordinary and creating the extraordinary.

Although most individuals don't think of art as communication, it is a type of language. It's a way of expressing one's thoughts or feelings without using words. As one famous person said, "A picture is worth a thousand words."

* * *

The Industrial Education Department stressed the importance of education in today's society. One way of persuading students to get an education after high school was to take a field trip and a tour of the Des Moines Area Community College.

Students enrolled in the different courses offered in Industrial Education were encouraged to become active in the industrial world. Teachers in this department helped students become involved in areas on the East Side of Des Moines.

Along with promoting education, the teachers felt a strong need to promote Central Campus, now located at the old Tech High School building. They felt that Central Campus gave students a more in-depth education in certain areas.

Senior David Smith fires up the foundry in Industrial Education.

Foreign languages: importance grows

The Foreign Language Department enriches students' ethnic knowledge and imagination. The department chairperson is Mrs. Gwenn Copple. The languages taught are Spanish and French.

Foreign language is required for admission to many Iowa colleges. The University of Iowa's College of Liberal Arts, Iowa State University's College of Science and Humanities and the University of Northern Iowa all require at least two years of the single language. This is also true for many other United States colleges.

The foreign language classes were involved in many fun activities. Mrs. Margaret Severino, a new Spanish and French teacher, planned a celebration of the Day of the Dead (which is like our Halloween), a letter exchange with Mexico City and correspondence with Ankeny Spanish students in her Spanish I classes. Guest speakers were planned for both language courses.

If the student was interested in languages other than Spanish or French, he could attend Central Campus. Many different languages are offered at Central Campus, including Russian, German and Japanese.

Learning a foreign language can improve communication involved in business, in travel and in everyday life.

Mrs. Gwenn Copple, who teaches Spanish, and Ms. Susan Lorence, who teaches French, seem to be having trouble understanding each other.

Mrs. Gwenn Copple helps sophomore Tanisha McGuire and junior Brenda Worden improve their speaking skills in front of the class.

English enrollment up with requirements

Mrs. Julia Hagen goes over the agenda with her tenth grade English class. Mrs. Hagen's class enjoyed the opportunity of meeting Ms. Effie Gross, a freelance writer and consultant.

Look to speech, forensics and Mr. Mike Miller for "New Looks" in the English department. The forensics team was very successful and showed the individual talents of students like senior Stefanie Kitchel and junior Steve Zeliadt. At the same time, sophomores were learning, in speech course, to overcome the fear of public speaking. All sophomores were required to take speech for one semester, but it could be replaced by debate if the student wishes.

College requirements for English have become more demanding in recent years. The University of Iowa and Iowa State University both required three years of English for graduating seniors. Ninth, tenth and eleventh grade English, as well as speech, must be included in these three years.

Many seniors elected to take either regular or Advanced Placement (AP) English. These courses were taught by Mr. John Raymond, department chairperson; Mr. Ed Kelly; and Mrs. Kay McCollum. In AP English with Mrs. McCollum, the students created a 15-minute presentation about the Canterbury Tales. Some classes went to Iowa City to see a play.

Don't be shy! Sophomore Jennifer Picray practices her speech as Mr. Mike Miller looks on. Mr. Miller teaches advanced tenth grade speech.

Math Department has several new changes

Mathematics is a course that most students take to meet college requirements, and it seems the same every year. However, there was one beneficial change made last year that was continued this year — the Des Moines Plan. Mrs. Dena Lewellyn's classes used this program, which incorporated a system of computers and other teaching equipment, to help the students learn more.

East also saw a new face in the halls. He was Mr. John Brown, who was a student teacher. He traveled around from class to class helping the math teachers work with their students.

A new McIntosh Computer was installed in Mr. Andy Shaffer's room for both teachers and students to use. The new computer was very beneficial to students, for it helped many students improve their math skills.

Teresa Miller, junior, said, "Math has been very beneficial for me for college and my future. The teachers were very helpful and I enjoyed taking the courses."

Bobby Anderson, freshman said, "Math here is not that different from Math in Junior High, but it is more difficult. I learned a lot in the course, and the teachers were a big help."

Home Economics valuable to students

ABOVE: Senior Lisa Parker improves her sewing skills by using the newly added computerized sewing machine. The new sewing machine was very beneficial to the Home Ec. Program. BELOW: Senior Mary Fitch analyzes the nutrition content of a plate of food.

Home Economics is a great program designed to help students not only relate to themselves and others, but also to prepare them for adulthood.

Just a few of the Home Ec. courses offered are Adult Living Skills; Food and Nutrition; and Housing and Interior Design.

A few additions have also been made in the Home Ec. Program. In the Food and Nutrition class, a computer was added. The new computer allows students to analyze the nutrition content in various foods. Also, a computerized sewing machine was added to the Textiles and Clothing class. The new high-tech sewing machine can make a variety of different stitches and can also be used to embroider.

The Child Development Class, another Home Ec. course, taught students how to care for infants and children properly. During the year, student nurses from Mercy Hospital came and spoke to the students about proper child care and the need for it.

NEW FACES

New faces were seen roaming the halls this year. New administrators, new teachers and foreign exchange students were all warmly welcomed.

East hosted seven foreign exchange students from many parts of the world. They included Laurence Fontvieille, a junior from France; Anders Hansson, a senior from Sweden; Alfonso Jann, from Spain; Mika Leonsaari, a senior from Finland; Rafael Murgel, a senior from Brazil; Sascha Roeder, a senior from West Germany; and Harzok Sy, a senior from the Philippines.

In addition to new students, there were also 10 new staff members. Excluding the new principal and vice-principals, the new staff members included Mr. Gary Cameron, who worked with the In-School Suspend-sion program, Mr. Gary Gilchrist, who was a new hall monitor; Mr. Jerry Goodrich, who taught art; Mr. Mike Miller, who taught speech and forensics; Mrs. Roberta Peters, who was an associate; Mrs. Sandra Ray, who was the new bookkeeper; Mrs. Cindy Selden, who taught in the reading and writing lab; Mrs. Margaret Severino, who taught Spanish and French; Mrs. Diane Sheal, who was a stenographer; and Mrs. Jean White, who was a teacher of English.

The greatest change occurred in East High's administration. These changes included: Mr. Jerry Stillwell, the new East High principal; Mr. Mike Zelenovich, a new vice-principal; and Mr. Gary Jezko, also a new vice-principal.

Mrs. Elaine Vining, Mr. John Sweeney, and Mr. Alan Hultin moved from East High to become members of the Homecoming Assembly.

Lasting memories

Senior Steppers Julie Renda, Cathy Murray and Gina Garcia perform at the Christmas assembly.

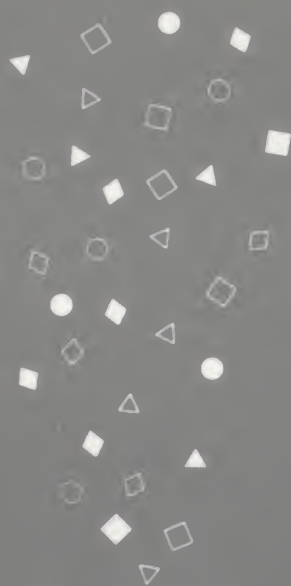

Seniors Carla Pitts and Deric Kidd prepare an order at McDonald's, a senior hot-spot.

After searching for the college sweatshirt that suits him best, senior James Colton decides on an Iowa State Cyclones sweatshirt. Choosing a college to attend isn't as easy as this; it's a tough job.

Senior Julie Hull models a Prom dress that a senior girl might choose for that memorable night of Prom.

Senior Cheerleaders Charissa Nester, Missy Wright and McCell King show the school their spirit while cheering at the Homecoming assembly.

Seniors Jason Van Buskirk, Stephanie Boers and Mary Jo Robinson glance through old yearbooks recalling old memories from their four years at East. Yearbooks are an easy way to look back on the past and recall memories of good, bad, happy and sad times that a senior experiences.

Senior Chris Wood lifts weights in the weight room after school. This was a common sight for senior football players after football season was over.

Life Goes On

*As I look back upon this past year,
My thoughts grow sad and I shed a tear
Not for the memories, for they bring joy,
But that they're gone like a childhood toy.*

*We have only now as time slips away in store for tomorrow joy from today,
But we cannot bring those times back to be,
Only a smile and a faded memory.*

*Then when I think of you, my smile dies,
My thoughts grow sad and tears fill my eyes
For you must leave and build your tomorrow and the thought of this brings me such sorrow.*

*We've had our times together as one
And now that time together is done
You'll go your way, and I'll go mine,
Only having the memory of what's behind.*

*The paths we walk may meet again
And we will talk of where we've been,
Sharing each joy as we have done,
Rebuilding our lives together as one.*

*Then when my life ends and our time is left behind,
I will live a new life within your mind
I will be reborn and die every day,
As memories are recaptured and fade away.*

Senior Dave Rutenburg receives a handshake from the Senior Class adviser, Mr. Gary Jotzke, for a job well done during his senior year in swimming. Dave receives the handshake with thanks.

Mr. Gary Jotzke, Senior class adviser, measures senior Todd Thompson while seniors Rafael Murgel, Rob Dickson, Kip Coleman, McCell King and Mark Wilson

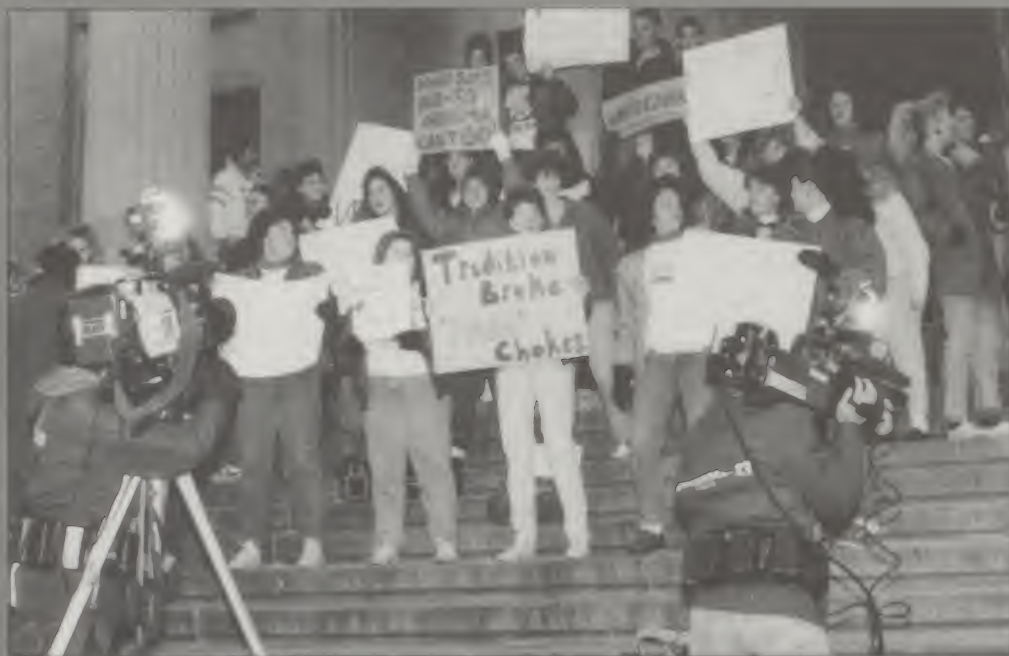

watch, eagerly awaiting their turn to be measured for cap and gown. Every senior went through this sometime during her/his senior year.

Seniors Tad Squires, Matt Rogness and Dana Danley look through old Scrolls to get ideas for this year's newspaper to make it as memorable as the years past.

On Friday, Dec. 9, 1988, over 30 seniors stood on the front steps protesting the School Board's decision to move graduation back to East. Signs saying "Grandma can't go, the Board said no!" "13 years for what?" were among the many that seniors held, showing their anger. On Jan. 3, 1989, the School Board voted 4 to 3 in favor of moving graduation back to Vets' Auditorium, but it would not be held on Memorial Day weekend as it had been in recent years.

Senior Jodi Swertfager helps senior Tricia Bartram hold up a sign protesting graduation. In the background, senior Gina Helton sings, "We're Not Gonna Take It."

Seniors Sherry Grother and Bill Reed take one final look back at East and the motto "For the Service of Humanity," remembering their four fun-filled years in high school.

Memories

*Tonight a curtain closes,
And we take a final bow,
To the four years we have spent
Which are slowly ending now.
But let time stop this evening,
For just an hour or two
As we recall the memories
That seem, right now, too few
And gathered all together,
We will not say "goodbye"
For thoughts that will prevail
With us, of you, will never die*

A beginning or an end?

Walking out of East High for the very last time, you made sure you went out the front doors so you could look back over your shoulder and see the majestic doorway that leads to what is now your past. You left behind you all the experiences you will never regain except through the grace of memory.

Then, proceeding down the steps, your memory suddenly raced through four years of your life, recalling the times that you laughed so hard you almost rolled on the floor, the times you cried tears of frustration and the times you struggled through piles of homework to be ready for finals. Through all these times of your life, you had friends beside you helping you laugh and cry and struggle.

Then, suddenly, your thinking came to a halt when you realized that those very same friends would follow their separate paths through life and perhaps never cross with yours again. Silently, as you stood on the front steps, you wished them all the best of luck; no one heard you, but you meant it just the same.

You walked down those last few stairs, stepping out of your past and into your future, knowing that you were beginning the rest of your life as a newcomer into a world that didn't know what to expect of you. But all the while, you knew you would make your place out there through hard work and determination. Those were the same two qualities that saw you through high school before, and you knew they would see you through the even more challenging times ahead . . . for to make an ending is to start a beginning, and a beginning is the biggest step of all.

EAST HIGH SCHOOL
CLASS OF 1989

East welcomes Stilwell as principal

There were many new faces at East this year but none were as noticeable as those of our new principal, Mr. Jerry Stilwell, and two new vice-principals, Mr. Gary Jotzke and Mr. Mike Zelenovich.

Mr. Stilwell came to East after 26 years in the district. He is a 1957 graduate of the "old" Valley High School. After high school he attended college at Iowa State Teachers College. Then he went on to do his graduate work at Drake University. In 1981 he received his first principal's position, at McCombs; then he went to Harding in 1984. Then, in 1988, after 28 years in education, he came to East.

His goal this year was to become as familiar as possible with programs, activities, staff and the student body. When asked if working as a high school principal was different from being a junior high principal, he replied, "It's different because levels of responsibility are greater due to the number of people involved."

"I came to East to become a high school principal because of the opportunity available and because East has a good reputation," Mr. Stilwell answered when asked why he came to East.

Another "new look" at East this year is the principal, Mr. Jerry Stilwell. Mr. Stilwell came to East to replace Dr. Barbara Prior, who is now the director of secondary education.

Helpers' dedication makes East shine

PART-TIME HELPERS: Mrs. Eline Anousis, Mrs. Barbara Bartlett, Mr. Michael Anousis.

Our part-time helpers contributed many long hours to keeping East clean. They helped pick up trash left in the halls and cafeteria. Mr. Michael Anousis could be seen picking up cans and bottles outside in any kind of weather. Mrs. Barbara Bartlett and Mrs. Eline Anousis helped out in the cafeteria where they wiped tables and kept students in line.

The cafeteria ladies worked very hard to bring variety to the students' diets. In addition to the hot lunch served, there were many other foods to choose from. These included taco salads, cookies, grilled cheese, salads and baked potatoes. A make-your-own sandwich bar was also offered.

A well-balanced meal is required by the National School Lunch Program. The government and school supervisors choose specific food brands to be served. Each lunch must stay within the cost of 85 cents to maintain the budget. Our lunch ladies were not only meeting the requirements, they were surpassing them.

* * *

The custodians were involved in much more than sweeping the halls and emptying wastebaskets. The day and night custodians also did minor repairs, waxed floors and contributed to the excellent appearance of East.

Excellent junior officers chosen to lead class of '90

The new class officers possess many qualities that were sure to make this year's Junior Class a definite success. They were President Betty Bartram; Vice-president Chris Hatchitt; Secretary Pam McClurg; and Treasurer Paige Ackerman.

Betty is involved in volleyball and Student Government. Chris participates in wrestling and Student Government. Pam is a cheerleader and a Junior Class representative in Pep "E" Club. Paige is a Cheerleader and in Student Government.

Memories of Sheri Joann Bell live on

By Chari Shelton
Scroll Staff Writer

A tragic accident took the life of Sheri Joann Bell, sophomore, June 18, 1988, in the late afternoon hours. She was traveling on her way home seven miles outside of Pochantas when she lost control of the car and went into a ditch.

There are very few people who can touch a person's life the way Sheri did. She had a sense of humor and personality that had a way of making everyone around her smile.

"Losing Sheri was very hard for me because we grew up together. She had a way of always making me smile when I was feeling down. We were always there for each other. She was a very important person in my life. I'll always remember the good times we had together. I'll never forget her or the special friendship we shared," senior Dawn Adams recalls.

"She was always there for me, and she lived a great 15 years. I'll always miss her and think of all the memories we shared," sophomore Cindy Grow said.

"We will all miss her and think of her every day. We miss her happy smile and generous love. She'll stay in our hearts forever," her mother said.

Sheri still lives on in many of our hearts today. She meant a lot to her family and to all those around her; her sweet smile and special ways will never be forgotten. Sheri had a dream to one day visit Paris with her friends for a summer. That dream is still a part of her friends, and so are the memories of Sheri.

Four bright new fresh faces lead class of 1992

The four students chosen as Freshman Class officers this year were President Jake Peterson, Vice-president Kelli King, Secretary Lisa Kain and Treasurer Mike Rich.

Jake took part in freshman football, Chamber Singers and Student Government. He said his reasons for running for the class presidency were to meet new people and help the Freshman Class.

Kelli was co-captain of the Freshman Cheerleaders and active in Pep "E" Club, Mock Trial and Student Government.

Lisa was involved in Pep "E" Club, Spanish Club and Student Government.

Mike was involved in Student Government and said he hopes to get involved in politics in future years.

NEW LOOKS

New looks were everywhere in East High sports. A new gym floor, a new sports complex and a new addition to the wrestling room have all increased the spirit of East High School.

The big gym floor was again sanded and refinished after 12 years. The new floor was designed by Mr. Martin Mohler, Dr. Barbara Prior (former principal) and alumnus David Shellabarger. The new design greatly improved the appearance of the gym.

A weight room was added onto the wrestling room to improve the strength and condition of the wrestlers. Part of the south wall was removed to form a door to the new weight room and a wall was added to enclose the room. New wall mats were also purchased. The East Des Mormon Junior Wrestling Club donated $1,000 for new exercise bikes, rowing machines and a music system. The Booster Club donated $1,500.

After the football season, the first step of several stages necessary to build a sports complex was begun. The city closed the street between Walker and Fremont on East 15th. This area will be landscaped and will become a walkway for students. The second stage planned is the paving of the parking lot south of the football stadium.

Also planned to be built are a football practice field, a new baseball diamond and a new football/soccer practice field. The final stage of the project is the development of a 30-to-40-car parking lot off University and the landscaping of the entire complex.

East High students and parents show their spirit at a football game as East colors its traditions.

Scarlets place second in metro

With 24 wins and 11 losses, the varsity baseball team ended the season second in the Metro Conference.

The highlight of the team's season was the trip to Council Bluffs, Ia., for the College World Series. While in Council Bluffs, the team defeated four other teams, one of which was Thomas Jefferson High School of Council Bluffs. East won 17-0

The Quill Staff would also like to thank senior Eric Upchurch for providing pictures for them.

The freshman baseball team started out right this season when they won their first game against Hoover. About 50 students tried out for the team in May, and out of those 50, 19 were chosen for the team.

The highlight of the 1988 season came when the team won seven out of their last eight games.

The sophomore baseball team had a good season with an overall record of 12-11.

Many close games with Lincoln kept the team on their toes, but with good hitters and an excellent pitching staff, they won two of their four games against the Rail-splitters.

After the season ended, Richie Young, Rick Goodwin, Rowdy Farrell, Bryan Hall and Jim Sassatelli qualified to play on a National Amateur Athletic Union Team which was held in Lawrence, Kans.

One of the highlights of the 1988 season was a 6-0 win over Dowling. This was a very tough game because Dowling is a very tough team to beat. Way to go, Scarlets!

Team strength grasps onto metro title

The girls' varsity team was led to another great season this year, with co-captains Kim Heiting and Jodi Stout returning for another successful year. The team worked hard and with determination to become co-champions for the Metro Championship title. Almost every goal that the team wanted to reach was attained this year.

Though they lacked a good hitting squad, they more than made up for it with the pitching and defense, so any weakness was absorbed. There were 11 returning letter-winners and this led to a team that was extremely determined to leave their mark in the metro this year.

This varsity team was coached by Mr. Bob Savage, who was assisted by Mr. Mark Tiby. Both are looking forward to next years' team.

Head Coach Savage commented, "Our girls set their goals to go to the state tournament, and it was unfortunate that they were only one play from going. What really made them feel good about the season was tying for the Metro Title, and the team who they tied they had beaten two times before. We had a young team and most of them will be returning again for the next two years. I'm anticipating in the next two years to have one of the best softball teams we've ever produced."

— Jodi Stout, senior.

"This season was a 'growing season' for the team. We learned that adapting to one another's strengths as well as weaknesses builds a strong basis for success!"

Autumn Brown, freshman curves the ball in for a strike.

The girls' freshman and junior varsity teams had great seasons once again. They were coached by Mr. Mark Tiby and Mr. Bill Carlson. With 15 junior varsity players, they won 21 games, lost only 4 and tied 2. The season proved to be a great success.

Sophomore Melissa Brennen was the most improved from her previous season. The outstanding pitchers were freshman Kathy Winget and sophomore Cindy O'Brien. With great people like this helping out both teams, the junior varsity finished 10-4.

The freshman and junior varsity strengths were that they were capable of scoring runs; this will eventually prove to be one of their great successes. They really didn't have too many weaknesses besides losing a double-header to Lincoln. But that didn't matter, because they are still two great teams!

Boys' track team races for perfection

The combination of an excellent coaching staff and a strong sense of team spirit gave the 1988 boys' track team a very successful season.

The season was highlighted by the metro conference meet, where the competition was at its peak. The team scored in almost every event. Another highlight was the state meet. This is where the outstanding individuals can excel in their own events.

There was a new sprinting coach, Mr. Dan Womble. He presented a new and very successful approach to coaching. With his help the sprinters became the strong point of the team. Another strong point was shot-putter Chris Wood. "Chris is a fierce competitor and has great drive to succeed," commented Assistant Coach Ned Rasmussen.

Head Coach Don Graves was very pleased with the season and said that all the kids ran to the best of their ability. He commented, "As the season grew older the kids grew stronger and faster."

The only major injury came after the Valley Relays, when Troy Tyler broke his foot.

Wood, senior.

"We had an impressive season this year. The sprinters did well. We also did well in the shot-put and discus. The coaches deserve a lot of the credit." — Chris

Girls' track team jumps into another competitive season

Pain, sweat and tears were contributed by each and every member of the 1988 girls' track team; the determination in their minds made this yet another rewarding season.

Winning the Lee Town Relays and placing second four times highlighted the girls' season. Head Coach Mark Tiby commented, "We had another outstanding season for the fifth time out of six years, and averaged 82 points per meet."

Field events was the strongest area the girls' dominated; in fact, two school-field event records were broken: in the long jump with graduate Lonnie Williams and in the high jump with junior Kathy Hutson. As the season progressed, the middle-distance runners developed more, and helped make the team stronger overall.

"I feel that although we didn't have our usual team standouts, we still were great. Our team as a whole worked hard with a lot of determination, and we finished the season with a lot of pride." — Chantell Pate, senior.

Girls' tennis team shows its patience

Despite the season record of the girls' tennis team, there were a lot of strong individual scores. Attitudes, discipline and the patience of staying and pursuing the game were the major strengths that built the strong individual scores.

Foreign exchange student Rita Ricobelli was the most outstanding individual player, along with captain Julie Ackerman. Rita won a total of 12 singles matches and 6 double matches. Rita advanced to sectionals and won all of her four matches. After sectionals Rita went on to win two matches at regionals. At the state match she won the first game of play, but lost her last two matches.

From Rita's leadership, the team learned two new strokes: behind the back, and between the legs. Rita stressed the East High motto, "A winner never quits and a quitter never wins," which became the team's motto.

"We had a fairly good year, but we didn't have enough varsity players, so less-experienced players had to play up. We did really well for the number of people we had." — Jennifer Miller, senior.

A major highlight of the season was Joe Pavon's first-place finish at districts.

You won't find Jack Nicklaus or Sam Snead roaming the halls of East High School but you can find our own local stars: Allan Britcher and Jerry Koll. These two golfers led the boys' golf team to a seventh place position in the Metro Conference.

There were 24 members on the team; two of them were seniors. Junior Allan Britcher led the team with an average score of 41, and senior captain Jerry Koll was ranked second.

Mr. John Schnoor, coach of the team, said, "We hope to be better next year because most of the players will be returning. If the whole team can stick it out the entire year, we should be a much better competitive team."

Jerry Koll, senior.

Girls' Golf

Senior Cindy Greenwood practices her swing before a meet. The team had a fun season.

When the girls' golf team, with its five individuals, hit the course, great times were sure to follow. The team's strength came from their captain, senior Crystal Hemingson, who usually shot in the 90's. The highlight of the '88 season was when they beat North.

Even though the team was small, fun was had by all. Mr. John Schnoor was the new coach. He believed the team had done well for the experience the members had.

According to him, most of the people on the team had rarely played or had never played golf before they were a part of the team, and all of them were fine players by the end of the year. He commented, "There are not enough girls in the school that try out for golf, and they should."

Wild card mesmerizes state crowd

It was a cold Saturday morning on Oct. 29 when seven of East High's very best lined up at the starting line, along with 116 other state cross-country runners. Running with just one year of experience behind him, senior Kurt Lightner amazed everyone by becoming the state of Iowa cross-country champion; as the others crossed the line, scores were totaled and East wound up in eighth placed at the state cross-country meet!

The state meet definitely proved to be the toughest meet and the highlight of the season, but another highlight for the whole team came at the metro meet, in which the boys placed second.

A lot of team unity was shown by the two captains, seniors Rod Chamberlain and David Maxwell, who seemed to ignite the spirit of the whole team.

Head Coach Don Graves expressed his feelings enthusiastically, saying, "I'm very satisfied and happy with what the team has accomplished this season, and especially excited for Kurt Lightner! We've worked hard at this sport for a long time and now all the hard work has finally paid off."

Although the girls' 1988 cross-country team didn't do as well as they had hoped, their will and determination will give the underclassmen plenty of motivation to improve.

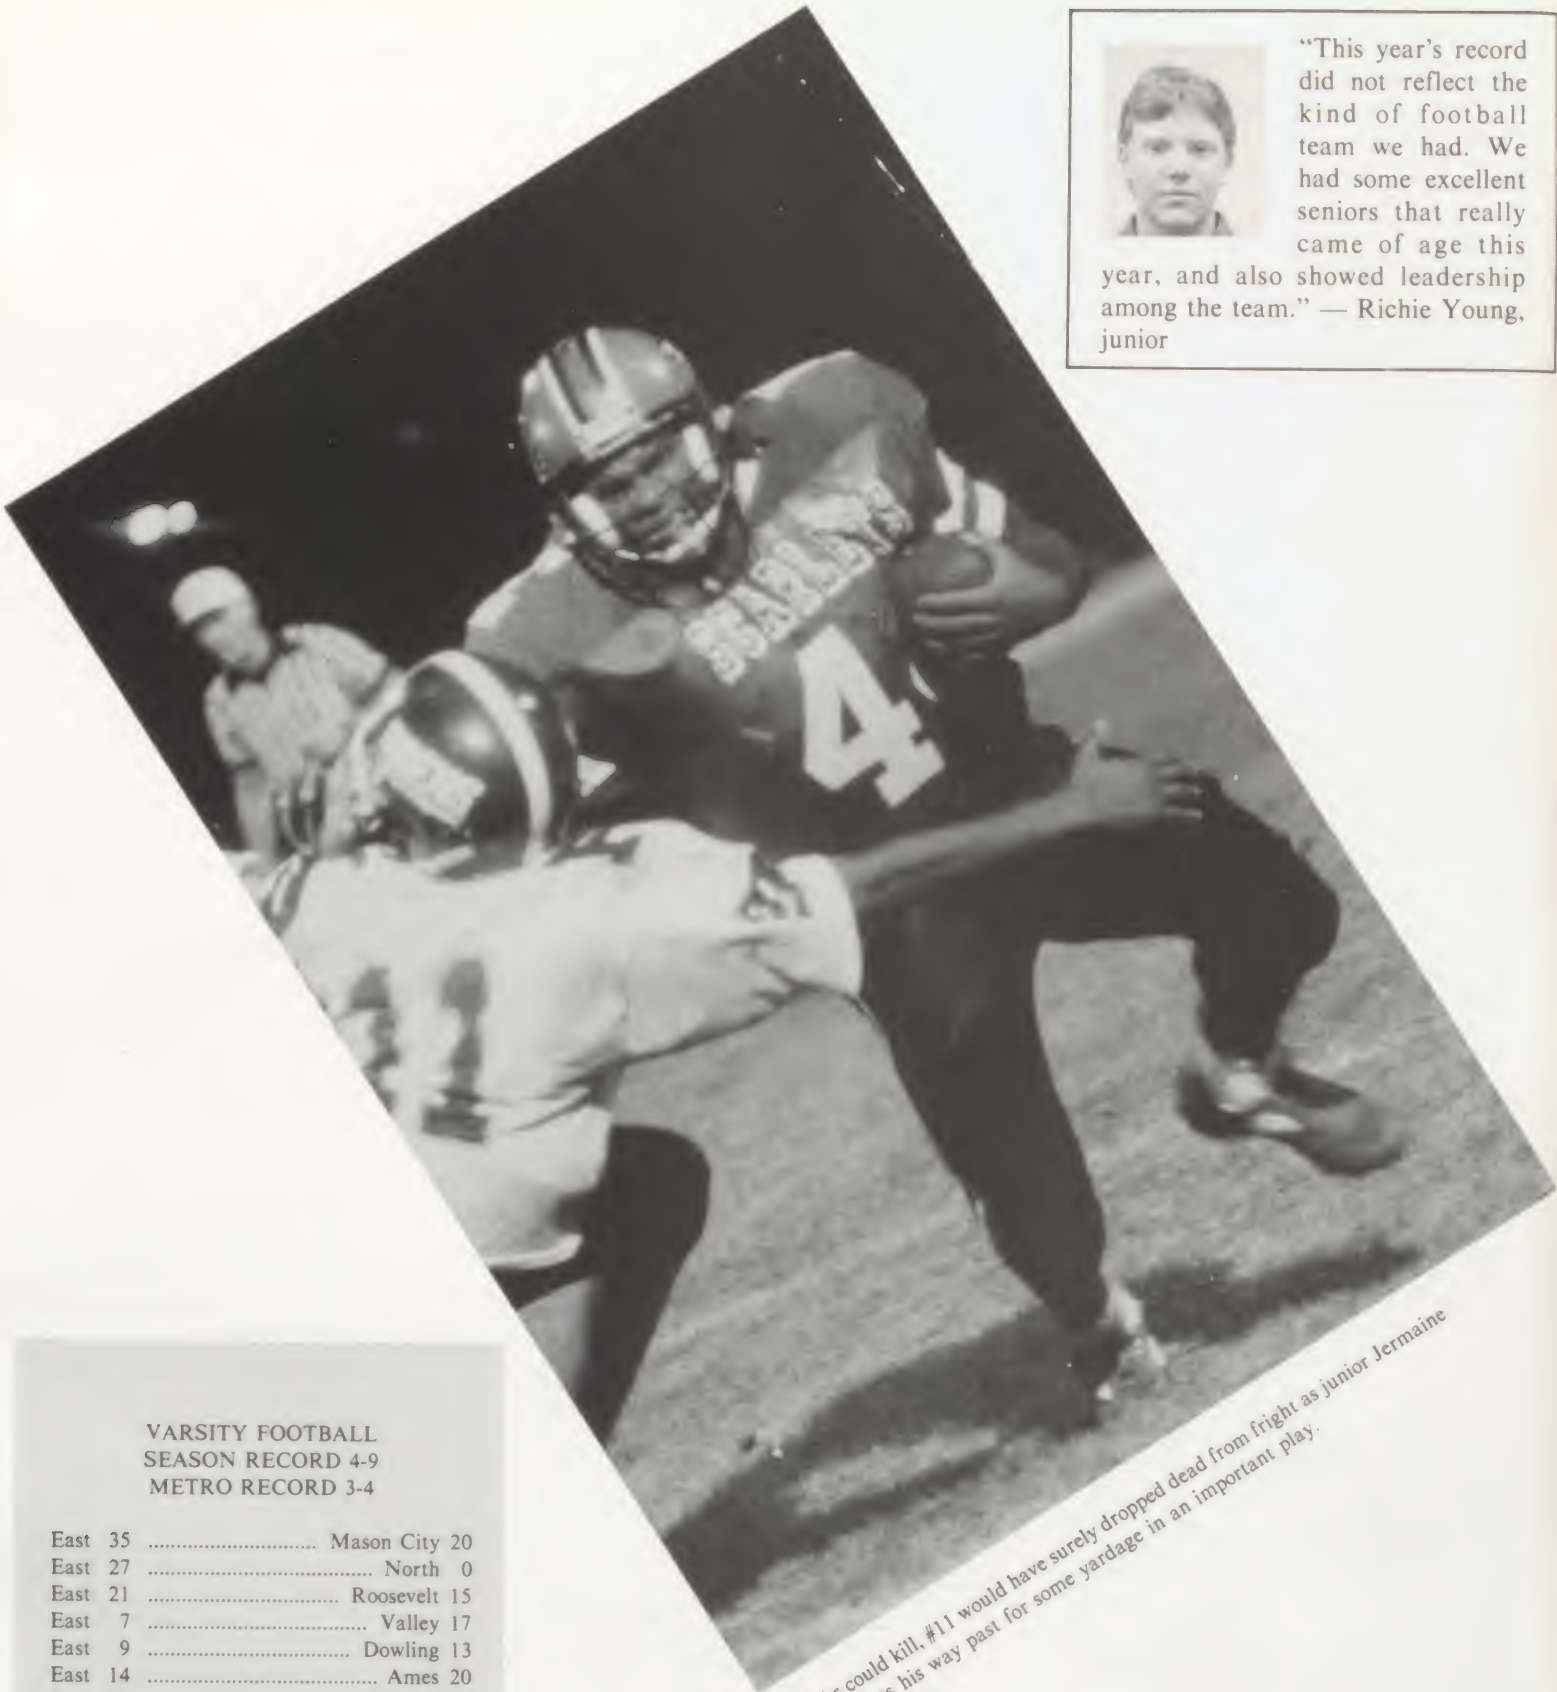

Steady improvement and the ability to stick together as a team were two of the girls' many strengths. Leadership was demonstrated by captain Sherry Grother, senior, who was named to the all-metro academic team.

As a "rookie" in this sport, Head Coach Carole Larson, brought along the experience she had acquired from being an assistant coach of the girls' track team. She presented new coaching ideas and suggestions to the girls, which they were open to. Each girl learned that it takes a lot of self motivation, determination and discipline to push themselves to the maximum of their capabilities. Head Coach Larson said, "Successful athletic performance even at the high school level requires year-round commitment."

Scarlets spell excitement in 1988

Senior Darin Adams has possession of the ball. At this point of the game, he quickly signals for a timeout to set up a final play.

Power, speed and the ability to face challenges are words that describe the 1988 varsity football team. Team efforts shown were much greater than the 4-5 season indicated.

At the beginning of the season the Scarlets were a great ball of fire ready to explode. They were raging with excitement at the start of the season when they played against Mason City, and everything seemed to fall right into place. With a good mixture of the Junior and Senior Classes, they molded together to form excellent team unity.

Coming back from several hard and close games highlighted the season, especially after East made true believers out of Lincoln, conquering them in a 21-7 victory. East played strongly throughout the '88 season with the leadership of the defensive co-ordinator, Mr. Walt Kennedy.

Outstanding players were evaluated by Metro coaches by being named either first or second team all-metro. Five from East were chosen for first team all-metro: seniors Chris Wood, Steve Carmichael, Rick Corbin; junior Jermaine Reed and Jermaine Gunn. Senior Jamie Hines, senior Merloren Butts and junior Mike Duffert were named to the second team all-metro.

At the end of the season the players named senior Chris Wood most valuable player, senior Jamie Hines outstanding lineman, and Vong Philavahn most improved player. Senior Steve Carmichael was honored as "Mr. Team" in performance. Senior Rafael Murgel was named as the football scholar of the year. The all-metro academic team included seniors Rafael Murgel, Steve Carmichael, and Vong Philavahn. The Scarlet Helmet award was given to junior Jermaine Reed as the offensive player of the year, and senior Chris Wood as the defensive player of the year.

Head Coach Bill Carlson said, "Certainly in the 1988 season the varsity football team put forth its best efforts and played hard. They showed they can win and compete with the state's very best. Without exception the Junior and Senior Classes worked well together the entire season. The feeling for one another was tremendous, and I can only hope that that kind of unselfish attitude will carry over to future years."

Soph team gains needed experience

The sophomore football team suffered through a rough season this past year. Their record was a dismal 1-8, but their record did not totally reflect their season as a whole. The team played extremely hard in every single game in which they participated, and they were close on several occasions. The biggest highlight of the year for the young team was their win over North. East played tough throughout the game and in the end they prevailed. They showed that they could play as a team and they never gave up that fighting Scarlet Spirit. Sophomore Doug Baker commented, "We had a good solid team this year and we should have many dedicated players return for next year's squad. With a little more work we hope to make a run for the metro title."

Talent and dedication paid off for the East High freshman football team. Their season record of 4-3-1 reflected the talent and ability of the team. Following a disappointing loss to Urbandale, the Scarlets came back and defeated North, Roosevelt and Valley. The team was then defeated by Dowling and Ames, but by the end of the season they had beaten Hoover and tied Lincoln.

The team was led by several outstanding players, such as Jermaine Brown, who rushed for over 1,000 yards, and defensive lineman Darrick Bolich. Other outstanding players were Rick Jones and Jon Wolfkill, the team's defensive captains.

Bob Carmichael, head coach, said "The team played the best they could. With the type of team we had, a 4-3-1 record is a tribute to the team's work ethic."

Jason Cox, a freshman at Lincoln High, said of the team, "The East High freshmen were well-coached, well-trained and fine opponents. East had a fast backfield, a quick line and smart players."

Varsity volleyball spikes to state

“All for one — one for all — go East go!” was the chant heard from the girls’ varsity volleyball team before they headed on to the floor for some heavy spiking, setting and digging.

This year’s team included one senior, seven juniors and four sophomores. The co-captains were juniors Betty Bartram and Lizz Beckman.

The team had an awesome season, ending it with a trip to the State Tournament. The girls won four hard games to go to State against North, South East Polk, Roosevelt and Perry. They took a hard loss at State against Davenport North, a team which later won the 2A competition.

Seven girls were named to all-conference teams. Juniors Betty Bartram and Lizz Beckman were selected to first team. Junior Nicole Thorn was selected to second team, while senior Skye Davis, junior Deanna Rankins and sophomore Rachele Clark were named to the honorable-mention team. Juniors Nicole Lester and Nicole Thorn were selected for the All-Metro Academic Team.

The 1988-89 girls' swim team led by Head Coach Ken Gaeth and Assistant Coach Stan Thompson, was a very experienced one; most of its members were juniors and seniors.

There were many highlights throughout the year. Senior Michelle Wagner set a new varsity record in the 500 freestyle. Amy Brown also set a varsity record in the 200 free, 50 free, 100 free, and 100 backstroke. Besides setting many records, Amy also qualified to state.

Coach Gaeth was glad to have his experienced swimmers and divers return this year, but he is hoping that more freshmen will go out for swimming next year to replace the graduating seniors.

The team finished the season with a 5-5 record. Also, for the fourth year in a row the girls won the S.E. Polk Invitational.

"Even with so few members out this year, we had a great season. Our losses came mainly from lack of team depth, but we made up for it in individual events and team spirit." — Michelle Wagner, senior.

Varsity girls jump back into action through several 'close encounters'

Karla Lilly steals the ball and heads up the court on a 2-on-1 break. She passes the ball underneath to Lizz Beckman for two critical points.

Thus began several games this year. The girls' varsity team often overran the offense with some intensive defensive moves that would confuse even the best players. This led the way for fast breaks that were inconsistent, but could score 20 points in any given period.

East's swiftness, rebounding, and youth were major factors that dominated the entire season. A game after Christmas against Lincoln showed these qualities of the team. Even though the girls lost in overtime, this game led the girls to believe that they could play with any of the rated teams.

Head Coach Mark Tiby had this to say about their season: "Our record doesn't reflect the amount of improvement and the way we played against all the rated teams on our schedule. We were in every game the last half of the season until the final minutes."

At the end of the season, sophomore Rachelle Clark was named to the second team all-metro. Three other teammates were awarded honorable mention: juniors Lizz Beckman and Betty Bartram, and senior Karla Lilly.

Varsity basketball bounces with pride

This year's varsity basketball team had three returning letter winners. These letterwinners showed dedication and pride in their school and their team. They were seniors Jason Dalbey, Ron Quick and Bill Reed. Despite their record, the team did have some exciting and close games. At the half in their game at Ames, the Scarlets were tied with the Little Cyclones, 34-34, but couldn't seem to keep the game going their way. The Scarlets also lost a heartbreaker to Roosevelt 75-71. East was ahead at the half and did very well during the second half, but last-minute fouls and missed free throws kept them from coming home with a victory.

East's varsity basketball coach, Mr. Chuck Sutherland, commented, "The team worked hard and showed a lot of improvement toward the end of the season. I'm proud of the dedication the team had." Senior Ron Quick commented, "Although our season was disappointing, all of the guys worked very hard. The guys we had at the end of the season were very dedicated and finished the season very well."

The team had some outstanding players, like Paul Sams and Cecil Aswegan.

Girls learn sportsmanship, teamwork

The 1988-89 girls' freshman basketball teams gained the experience they needed to have the ability to excel in the future. Their records were not spectacular, but effort cannot be measured in points placed on a scoreboard. The team felt that this year was an excellent opportunity to learn sportsmanship and teamwork. Coach Bob Savage felt that the girls "played really hard." He coached both the A and B teams.

"Even though the season did not go well, we learned a lot. I felt that we had a very experienced coach. We were very dedicated and we played hard." — Mary Hoover, freshman

JV volleyball gains skills for future

The junior varsity volleyball team had a promising year in 1988. They ended the season with a 10-10-1 match record against metro foes. The team was coached by Mr. Dave Frost. This was his first year of coaching volleyball, and he proved to be a good coach.

On the court, the team was led by juniors Nicole Lester, (captain) Cindy Quick and Renee Perez, and by sophomores Janelle Dupree and Dawn Fisher. These players and the rest of the junior varsity team showed that they could compete with the best and showed they could be force next year on varsity.

Jenna hit on 88 percent of her serves and had 48 aces. (An ace is when the server serves the ball and it is not returned by the other team.) Chrystal made 85 percent of her serves and had 20 aces.

Swim team makes tremendous effort

This year the boys' swim team "did well considering it was the first year in competitive swimming for half of the team," according to Head Coach Ken Gaeth. Two outstanding swimmers this year were senior David Ruttenburg and freshman Mike Moyle. David Ruttenburg placed third in the 500 freestyle and set the school record at 4:50.16. He also placed fourth in the 200 freestyle and set the school record at 1:46.48. In addition, he made All-State in the 500 freestyle and All-State honorable mention in the 200 freestyle. Freshman Mike Moyle broke the freshman record for the 500 freestyle.

Soccer team shows great improvement

The Scarlet soccer program had a solid season last summer (1988). The team started slowly, but toward the end of the season, they put together a winning streak that finished the season impressively. The team had very strong leadership from the captains, alumni Rod Welscher and Isaac Petersen.

In addition to the freshmen, the team had a new addition in an assistant coach, Mr. Dan Doyle. Mr. Doyle played semi-professional soccer in Japan and other parts of the world, so he was able to show the team new offensive and defensive strategies, which really proved helpful to the team.

Mr. Greg Holland, the head coach, commented "The varsity squad started the season slowly, but they finished with three consecutive wins in a row. They were very emotional wins and hopefully they will extend into the upcoming season."

Managers: Key to East sports success

Senior Sherry Grother, girls' varsity basketball manager, films their game for later use by coaches and players. This was one of the more important tasks performed by the managers.

The managers were an integral part of East High's success in athletics. Managers helped at practices by taping injuries and distributing water during breaks in practice. They also took care of all the sporting equipment at the end of practice. When game time came, managers were there to take care of equipment before and after the game, and keep statistics of the game for coaching staffs.

In some instances, they also filmed the game for later use by the team and coaches. Over all, these people proved they were as valuable to the team as any of the players.

Wrestlers have very successful season

The East High wrestling program had a very successful season this past winter. The varsity ended the year with a 5-4-1 record in dual meets and came away with first place in one tournament. The strength of the varsity team was in their success in the lower weight classes. They were led by juniors Rob Dixon (103 pounds), and Chris Hatchitt (112), and seniors Jeremy Mattison (119) and Rod Chamberlain (135).

The team wrestled hard all year and never quit. Head Coach Gary Rourke commented, "This year's team was a great group. They stuck together all year. They won and lost together, but most importantly, they never gave up."

Junior Chris Hatchitt said, "This season we started off strong by going undefeated in the first six straight dual meets and ending up with a winning record. All of the wrestlers worked hard and finished the year very strong."

On Feb. 18, the East wrestlers and wrestlers from other Des Moines area high schools met at Valley High School for the district wrestling meet. The top two finishers in each weight class went on to the state tournament held at Veterans Auditorium. East wrestled well at districts; however, the competition was ready for the talented East wrestlers. They qualified one wrestler for the state tournament, junior Rob Dixon. (He took first place at districts in the 103-pound weight class.) East also had several other wrestlers who took the third place spot.

At state, Rob wrestled extremely well. He took fifth at the state tournament and proved to be one of the top contenders for a state championship next year. Concerning the state tournament, Rob said, "State was an exciting experience. There is nothing like wrestling with the best. I placed fifth this year, but I plan to learn from my mistakes and be state champ next year."

At the freshman level, East had several promising wrestlers, led by Bobby Anderson at 103 pounds. He earned much-needed experience by wrestling several junior varsity matches and at varsity in some tournaments.

Freshman Bill Hornung's hand is raised in victory.

"Well, this year really surprised me. We worked hard, and it showed in our wrestling. Although we had a decent record, we got a lot of good underclassmen who will make it better." — Jeremy Mattison, senior.

"Wrestling at high school was a lot different from junior wrestling. The competition was much tougher. I gained a lot of experience this year, and I'm looking forward to my upcoming seasons." — Bobby Anderson, freshman.

New clubs, new uniforms and a few changes were seen in the extracurricular activities of East High.

Several groups purchased new uniforms. One was the band uniform which was the most expensive at about $200. The Color Guard purchased bright new uniforms which brought out the positive attitudes in their performances. The cost of these uniforms was $50 each. The Steppers also purchased new uniforms that greatly improved the look of their performance. These red-and-black uniforms cost $75 each. The Pep "E" Club showed their spirit by purchasing red-and-white sweatshirts to wear on game day.

A few more clubs were added to the already impressive number at East High. The only organization to honor secondary students for superior work in the theater is the International Thespian Society. This year East High added its own troupe to this organization. This club tries to help the young actor by improving the availability of quality instruction. Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines is the co-sponsor, along with Ms. Jill Shaeffer. The members must work a certain number of hours and also participate in at least two full-length productions.

The Computer Club also began this year, and the Art Club was re-activated.

A new debate teacher, Mr. Mike Miller, became the new head coach for East High's debate team. For the first time, East High debaters advanced to the final rounds of the Mid-America Cup. They enjoyed a great season.

ORGANIZATIONS

Limited to cheers, chants and jumps

When the Varsity Cheerleaders arrived at camp last summer they had no idea what to expect. They attended the national Cheerleaders Association camp at Iowa State University July 24-July 27. They found that there was a major change from last year when they attended a camp at the University of Northern Iowa. The squad did very well in spite of the fact that the procedures were so different. They were awarded over-all excellence ribbons for each evaluation and received a spirit stick every day. Even though the squad didn't compete in the final competition, they received a spirit megaphone for showing the most spirit and congeniality toward other squads.

In previous years both the Cheerleaders and the Steppers were allowed to perform a dance at the assemblies. This year the Cheerleaders were told that the Christmas Assembly would be the last dance performance for the Cheerleaders. The decision was made by Principal Jerry Stilwell to lessen the competition between the Cheerleaders and the Steppers. After this year the Cheerleaders will be restricted to cheering and the Steppers to dancing. Instead of doing a complete dance at the Christmas Assembly, the squad mixed dancing and cheering together to prevent further controversy. As they continued to build their mounts on the floor, the over-all effect was stunning.

The captain of the Varsity Cheerleading Squad was senior McCeil King, and the co-captains were seniors Susie Carlson of the Black Squad and Missy Wright of the Red Squad. Three main units were combined to comprise the entire varsity squad. The Scarlet Unit cheered for football, cross country, boys' basketball and wrestling. The Red Unit cheered for football, volleyball, girls' basketball and boys' swimming. The Black Unit cheered for football, girls' swimming and wrestling. As the year came to a close and all was said and done, the Cheerleaders looked back and saw one of the best years ever. Senior McCeil King commented on the past year: "We accomplished many things by coming together as a squad. By uniting ourselves we were able to buy new uniforms."

Sophs named 'Outstanding Team'

Hard work, long practices and dedication paid off for this year's sophomore cheerleading squad. They were to be commended for doing such an excellent job of supporting the sophomore athletic teams and for their outstanding accomplishments at camp.

A few weeks after school let out for summer vacation, these girls started practicing and preparing for their first year at camp. The National Cheerleading Association camp was held at Iowa State University. It was a four-day camp held July 24-27. The high-spirited squad brought home two ribbons, a spirit stick and the Outstanding Team award.

This year's captain, Shelley Johnson, commented on the squad's first year at camp. "We were prepared because the Varsity Cheerleaders gave us an idea of what to expect. We were confident we would do well."

exceptionally well at camp. The National Cheerleading Association camp was held at ISU.

Sophomore captain Shelley Johnson seems to be jumping for joy, but actually she is demonstrating a perfect "W" jump.

Frosh Cheerleaders prove dedication

Full of enthusiasm and high spirit, the Freshman Cheerleaders worked hard to support the freshman football and basketball teams. Rain or shine, this squad could be found cheering for the teams.

The girls started practicing and perfecting cheers, chants and the school-and-fight song over the summer. The Varsity Cheerleaders worked with the squad to prepare them for the upcoming year.

"Cheerleading has been a great experience for me. I have met many people and have made a lot of new friends," commented Tami Chamberlain.

Excellent leadership qualities were also displayed by the squad's co-captains, Kari Elliot and Kelli King.

Color Guard triumphantly takes state!

The 1988-89 Color Guard placed first in the state, proudly maintaining their status on the ladder of success, and proving, for the second year in a row, to be a top-notch guard.

The long climb to glory began in the spring of 1988 with clinics. This was the first year freshmen were admitted to the squad. Soon after, the captains were chosen. They were seniors Missy Hoffman, Kathy Schatzke, Susie Gilbert; juniors Dena Pelham and Jill Fallis. Finally the Guard was completed with a squad of 22 hard-working and determined girls under the direction of Mr. Jay Nugent, band director, and Mr. Kent Keating, assistant director and choreographer. The knowledge of these two teachers in the field of music and drill contributed immensely to the Color Guard's success.

The next step was a series of rehearsals at which 6:30 a.m. practices became the standard. Soon the girls were off to Central Iowa Color Guard Camp. Susie Gilbert and Dena Pelham won Outstanding Rifle Student awards and eight girls received awards for performance.

The next step up came during the fall band season. The Color Guard, in their brand new uniforms, marched with the band. The uniforms added style and creativity to each performance.

Almost to the top of the ladder, the Iowa State Drill Team Contest approached fast. Junior Connie Grother and freshman Kris McDuell were chosen to perform individually at the Miss Iowa Auxiliary Contest. Connie deservedly placed first runner-up and Kris finished fourth. Eighteen out of the 22 members were chosen to compete on the state squad. The songs used were, "That Cat is High" and "Snootie Little Cutie." These songs, along with new uniforms and jazz dancing, truly gave a "new look" to the Guard. The long hours of practice paid off; the Color Guard brought home, with their heads held high, the first-place trophy!

Falling head-over-heels with excitement are the Color Guard, whose members had many interesting tricks like this one in their 1989 state performance. All of the girls put many long, hard hours into making their performance the best it could be.

Steppers recognized for routines

“Five, six, seven, eight . . .” These words became familiar to 20 lucky girls, the Steppers, as they were spoken by captains Dana Danley and Julie Renda. The captains and officers were chosen by their sponsor, Mrs. Kathie Danielson. Sherry Breed, senior, was chosen as treasurer and Tami McCombs, junior, as secretary.

Clinics for tryouts began on March 21 and ran through March 26. On April 4, 20 girls were chosen for the squad.

During the summer, the Steppers began practices. They met during the week to learn their routine that would later be performed at the Fall Sports Jamboree and at their summer camp.

During the summer, the Steppers also attended the Marching Auxiliaries of America Drill Team Camp. It was held at Iowa State University from July 11 to July 14. There the squad performed their home routine and received a plaque for Best Home Routine. While at camp, the team also performed a routine they learned from the camp instructors and received a Superior rating.

As the school year started the Steppers began work on their Homecoming routine. After putting in many hours of practice, the Steppers performed an almost flawless routine at the Homecoming assembly.

Soon after the Homecoming assembly the Steppers started a series of long rigorous practices for State Competition. The girls put many hours of hard work and dedication into their state routine. On Dec. 3 the Steppers traveled to Pleasantville, Ia., for the Iowa State Drill Team Competition. At this contest the squad received a Division I rating, a rating similar to Honorable Mention.

Two weeks previous to the team competition, junior Liz Tesdall competed in the Miss Iowa Dance Competition held at S.E. Polk High School. Liz placed 22nd out of 47 competitors, which is great for a first-year competitor.

During a pre-game performance, senior Gina Garcia, senior Kenna Leo and junior Angel Niehaus show their enthusiasm as Scarlet fans watch with excitement.

1989 East Quill Staff produces everlasting memories of EHS events

Cropping pictures, writing copy, identifying I.D. pictures, writing captions, checking names, laying out spreads, counting pictures, writing picture sheets, etc., etc., etc. (The two facing pages in the book are called a "spread.") All of this and much, much more went into producing the 1989 Quill. Sound difficult? It was! But somehow the Quill Staff pulled it off.

The yearbook pages were divided into four different deadlines, with each staff member doing one to two spreads per deadline. About six weeks were given to finish the spreads. If you happened to notice a few people roaming around the halls with panicked looks on their faces, red eyes from not enough sleep and manila folders tightly grasped in their arms, you were probably seeing the Quill Staff right before a deadline. And after that deadline was over, everyone was assigned an ad page to do!

Editor Rod Chamberlain, assistant editors Susie Gilbert and Mary Jo Robinson and the publications adviser, Mr. George Christian, assigned spreads and made sure everything ran smoothly.

But as someone wise once said, "Hard work is always rewarded." Because the staff members were so conscientious and dedicated, they were allowed to have a pizza and pop party. It was greatly appreciated.

Every staff member put all he/she had into every spread, knowing that her/his good work would represent East High's pride and the dedication each had in making their yearbook the very best.

Seniors Rod Chamberlain and Sherry Grother went to journalism camps during the summer to make sure that they would be on top of things when school started. Sherry commented, "Attending the summer workshop really helped me realize that putting your all into a yearbook can make a big difference on how the student body reacts when they receive their yearbooks. Also, by attending these workshops, I was able to get some really great ideas that I hope will make a big difference in the outcome of the yearbook." Rod commented, "It was a rewarding experience that I will always remember."

Scroll succeeds in setting standards throughout Metro

Printing news from around school and around Des Moines was the important task of the Scroll Staff. The staff, led by editor Matt Rogness first semester and Fred Hollister second semester, received their news from students, teachers, coaches and sponsors. The news was collected by the Journalism I students, through what is called "beat coverage." Beat coverage meant that the students went to their assigned teachers, coaches and/or sponsors and got interesting news for the next issue of the Scroll. The stories were then chosen by the editor and assistant editors and assigned to staff members to write.

Although writing stories was the most important thing for the staff to do, they had other things to do to make the Scroll a complete paper. Each story had to have an interesting headline to get the reader to read the story. Staff members also had to crop pictures and make them fit. One important thing that had to be done was the layout for each page, each issue. The layout showed where the stories and pictures were to be placed.

To take Journalism I, a student had to have an A in sophomore English. Those successful in Journalism I became Scroll Staff members their senior year.

East was not the only place a Scroll could be found. Scrolls were sent to every Des Moines school, to other schools throughout the state of Iowa and to other states. Administrators in the central office downtown received each issue.

The first semester editor, Matt Rogness, commented, "We had a great staff this year. I was very pleased."

Seniors Kenna Leo, Jim Feters, Heather Hays, and Eric Newton jump for joy! Are they smiling because a deadline is over, or because they produced the best newspaper in the Metro? Probably both! The staff worked very hard to produce the best Scroll ever.

Graphics layout a printers paradise

The East High Graphics students, directed by Mr. Jeff Bock, were known for printing and laying out the East High Scroll Newspaper and the PTSA Newsletter. But these students also did an assortment of other printing assignments. These included the tickets for Homecoming, Spree and Prom; Play Production posters; programs for major assemblies during the year, including Commencement programs; and attendance cards. Aside from everything else, they managed to have time to print materials for themselves.

Most students involved in Graphics were required to take Graphic Art Fundamentals as sophomores. Industrial Arts was recommended, but not required, in order to take this course.

Mr. Bock commented, "These courses provided an opportunity for students to get involved in the production of their school newspaper. This program was unique to East High and was not offered in any of the other Metro schools."

The Graphics students were very successful in whatever they attempted in the class. East is very lucky to have a program like this.

Senior Cathy Murray works diligently to paste up and lay out an issue of the East High Scroll Newspaper. The Graphics Department was responsible for printing many of the school's tickets, attendance cards and programs for most of our major assemblies. East was one of the few schools in the Metro schools to offer Graphics to their students.

'A picture paints a thousand words'

Seniors Jason Van Buskirk and Vong Philavanh snap a picture during a rainy football game. If there was a deadline to be met, the mighty Scarlet photographers could be seen under their trusty umbrella, screaming, "Say cheese!" Though this wasn't always heard, the picture was taken, regardless.

Mr. John Lethcoe, photography instructor, checks the negative to make an enlargement of a picture for a Quill spread.

To be an outstanding Scarlet photographer, a person was required to have superior knowledge of photography, good attendance and responsibility. Directed by Mr. John Lethcoe, East High photographers had these qualities. They took pictures for our main publications here at East: the East High Scroll Newspaper, the East High Quill Yearbook and the PTSA (Parent-Teacher-Student Association) Newsletter.

To become a part of this group, students were required to take Photography I. With teacher's approval, the student then entered Photography II. Mr. Lethcoe then chose the best of these students to take the Photojournalism class.

Most pictures taken for East's publications were taken by Photojournalism students. Mr. Lethcoe admits, "The Photojournalism class is a terrific group of students to work with. They have to put up with me."

Student leaders brighten East High

The 1988-89 Student Government was made up of conscientious, hard working students who worked together to help all students get involved. These activities included the fall sports Jamboree, Homecoming and a Student Exchange. Student Government also helped the National Honor Society with the canned-food drive.

All of these activities would not have happened without the dedication of Student Government's leaders. The officers for the first semester were President Dave Maxwell, Vice-President Tad Squires, Secretary McCeil King and Treasurer Mike Folsom. Second Semester Student Government changed somewhat with the election of two new officers. They were Vice-President Vong Philavanh and Treasurer Matt Rogness.

"The fine people we have in Student Government are diligent, responsible young leaders! These people are responsible for a lot of the activities that we have at East High," commented Mr. Walt Kennedy, Student Government sponsor.

NHS contributes New Looks at East

By sponsoring an honors breakfast for students receiving all A's first semester, by selling posters and by putting door mats in front of the school's doors, the National Honor Society (NHS) helped add to East's 'New Looks.' NHS consists of students in the top 15 percent of their class. These leaders also had to complete forms on which they listed all their achievements at East; these forms helped these honor students in becoming members of NHS.

Mr. John Raymond, teacher of English, was the sponsor for this year's NHS students. Leaders of the National Honor Society were President Chris Gering, Vice-president Rod Chamberlain, Secretary Gina Helton and Treasurer Mary Coe.

Senior Mary Jo Robinson commented, "Being inducted into NHS was one of my biggest goals when I started high school. It's a real honor to be a member of NHS, since only 30 students are chosen."

Leadership, scholarship, citizenship and service — all of these qualities were shown by this year's Kiwanians. Kiwanians were selected by Principal Jerry Stilwell and Mr. Gary Jotzke, this year's Senior Class adviser. When Kiwanian selections were made, the qualities mentioned were the major factors in determining who would be selected for the 1988-89 school year. These Kiwanians, all seniors, attended weekly luncheons with important community leaders every Wednesday in the month during which they served as a Kiwanian. Also attending each luncheon were students representing other Metro schools in Des Moines. These Kiwanians led not only their Senior Class, but East High's entire student body.

Group involvement improves East High

The Ambassadors' Club was a group of East High students who showed visitors around the school and made them feel welcome.

The select group was made up of five seniors and two people from each of the junior, sophomore and freshman grade levels. They were chosen in the fall on the basis of applications and interviews. They acted as hosts and hostesses to well known personalities like Senator Neal Smith and Dave Roeber, a Viet Nam veteran.

The Ambassadors also gave tours of the building and hosted the superintendent's annual state-of-the-schools breakfast.

Students always had the option of working on a subcommittee of the Building Climate Committee.

There was an executive board that met the second Tuesday of every month, and their subcommittees were the Image Committee, Attendance Committee, Academic Committee and Student Involvement Committee. Each committee was chaired by a staff member and a student.

The BCC completed all kinds of activities, such as bulletin-board displays encouraging students to stay in school, an attendance contest called SWAP (Student Weekly Attendance Pennant), the Christmas door-decorating contest, Welcome banners, the birthday bulletin in the lunchroom, special awards for perfect attendance, Angel tree (a project to buy gifts for children with parents in prison) and much, much more.

What made this group so special was the fact that it was the only one of its kind in the area, and the group strived to make the students and staff work together to make the school a better place to spend our time. Junior Dawn Emmons said, "I really enjoyed being on East High's BCC Image Committee. I feel that improving the image of East High is very important to the community. We need to let everyone know that East is #1."

The Class of 1992 felt welcomed into the great halls of East High School this year and most of it was due to the Scarleteers, who in the fall, were mailed a list of four to six freshmen to call and answer any questions they might have had about high school.

During Freshman Orientation, Scarleteers gave the incoming freshmen a tour of East.

During the course of the year Scarleteers' duties included helping the Class of 1992 find their classes, helping with lockers or helping with any other problems that arose.

Mr. Ray Patrilla, a teacher of science, was the adult supervisor, along with senior McCeil King and junior Pam McClurg as co-coordinators. A total of 200 Scarleteers made the Class of 1992 feel welcome and a part of East. Freshman Tim Formanek said, "I found my Scarleteer very friendly and very willing to help me."

Marching Scarlets in perfect step

"New Looks" is a perfect description of the East High Marching Scarlets this past year. Not only did they receive new uniforms, but they also hosted the first annual East High-Adventureland Marching Contest. The Marching Scarlets also had a new percussion instructor, Jeff Hoke. Jeff, an Augustana College senior, brought new precision and sound to the drum sections. The new uniforms were designed by Director Jay Nugent, Dr. Barbara Prior, former principal, and Mr. Lloyd Klinzman, former vice-principal. The uniforms project the new image of the Marching Scarlets.

Director Jay Nugent and the assistant director, Mr. Kent Keating, worked hard all summer to prepare the drill and music for the fall show. Their hard work paid off when the band went to contests in the fall. The Marching Scarlets placed third at the Marion Invitational, third out of 28 bands at the Algona Band Festival and third at the Ankeny Field Show Contest. At the State Marching Contest held at Iowa State University, the band received their tenth consecutive Division I rating.

Instrumentalists portray professionals

The Jazz Band was made up of the better musicians in the band. These students were very active in preparing for what they plan to achieve later in life. This made the Jazz Band 1 the one to get into. Its members have competed in four or five contests each year and played throughout the community doing civic and business performances. The season's highlight came in March, when they presented their third annual Las Vegas Show at East.

Some of the members were active in more than just this band. The Community Jazz Center was a great place to teach students more about jazz music. Those students interested were seniors Julie Hull, Chad Boydston, juniors Scott Rediger and Aaron Johnson. A representative at the Community Jazz Center, Mr. David Kobberdahl, introduced these musicians to this great opportunity.

Jazz Band 2 was the training ground for those interested in jazz music. This was the ideal band to be in if students wanted to be better prospects for future years of jazz bands.

Participation in Orchestra took desire, dedication and drive to hold a good position. Their music had to be taken seriously. The students who were in it this year showed their talent in many activities. They attended the Central College String Orchestra Festival in January. Some attended solo and ensemble performances in March and the group competed at the State Orchestra Competition in May.

Seniors Tricia Crabb and Missy Wright did All-State Solos and were in the Youth Symphony. Juniors Shananne Dullard and Cathy Hedgecock were also involved in the Des Moines Youth Symphony.

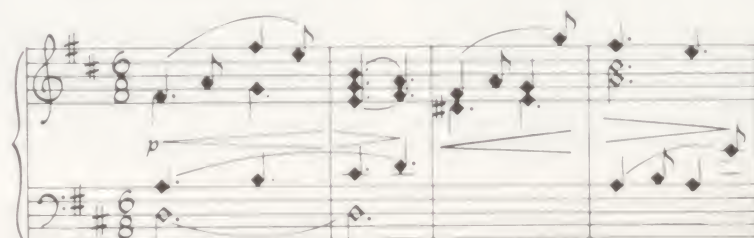

Talent and hard work were definite signs of perfection. Seven talented individuals out of 10 nominees were accepted to participate in the Drake Honor Band Festival. They were seniors Chad Boydston, Julie Hull, Pete Foster; juniors Shananne Dullard, Kelley Mechem and sophomore Stephanie Doumas.

Senior Chad Boydston practices his trumpet for an upcoming performance. Chad has been involved in East's Marching Band, Jazz Band I and Honors Band. He has performed many solos and ensembles throughout his high school career, especially this year. This year he was active in the Community Jazz Center, which broadened his horizons as a musician and built an outlook for future years in jazz music.

Chad plans to further his musical stature; he plans to attend the University of Northern Iowa, where he plans to major in music. East congratulates him and wishes him good luck.

Senior Missy Wright is in deep concentration while she plays the frustrating notes perfectly. Missy was involved in the Des Moines Youth Symphony, along with three other students from East. They were Tricia Crabb, Shananne Dullard and Cathy Hedgecock.

Outstanding choir gets even better

Concert Choir has become a very popular elective class. The number of students who auditioned was tremendous, making those who made it very talented. To audition for this class, the student had to sing a scale to find his range and sight-read some music. Anyone from any grade level or junior high could audition.

Concert Choir had many younger voices last year and it grew in size. This intermediate choir emphasized sight-reading and maturing one's voice.

Mr. Kent Keating, director of vocal music, said, "I have really enjoyed this year. Things really went great. At press time, we hoped to be going on a tour." Mr. Jay Nugent, instrumental music director, also helped conduct the choir.

The second sopranos in Concert Choir get ready for their vocal music winter concert. Long, hard hours of practice paid off during performances.

Prep Concert Choir prepares vocalists for advanced choir

Scarlet Choir made a major change from previous years. Originally it was a non-audition class for people who enjoyed singing. Now it is called Prep Concert Choir. Prep Concert Choir is the stepping-stone to Concert Choir. It prepares students for more advanced choirs.

Now there are auditions for this choir. Anyone from any grade level could audition. The auditions included singing a scale, and singing a selection of music that the student might or might not know.

This class helps students learn how to read rhythms and music and how to use their voices correctly. Many different concerts were given throughout the year, all using different types of music.

This new class was under the direction of Mr. Kent Keating, vocal music director, and the assistant director, Mr. Jay Nugent, instrumental music director. Mr. Keating thought that this change would help build the quality of East High's Vocal Music Department. He said, "This choir has improved greatly. I am excited to see that so many people are interested in being a part of East High's great Vocal Music Department."

Show Choir aspires to greatness

This year's Show Choir, also known as the Chamber Singers, has really taken off. They performed many concerts for various groups, including alumni from East High. Various performances included performing before a large downtown crowd known as the Des Moines Area Religious Council, which brought about a standing ovation; competing in March in the Show Choir competition in Cedar Rapids and Jefferson City; and giving one performance that no one will forget: singing back-up for Andy Williams, who is famous for such songs as "Moon River," live at the Civic Center. New uniforms were bought, giving the group a wonderful new look.

Mr. Kent Keating, director for the second year, felt this year's Show Choir was a "wonderful young group of people to work with. These people should be commended for their hard work and dedication."

The group's performances were greatly enjoyed and pleasing for those who were fortunate enough to see them.

The new uniforms shown here really showed how great this year's Show Choir turned out. The boys received new tuxedos, whereas the girls received dazzling new dresses. The money used to buy these new looks was raised by selling candy, and by other activities. The group has really earned the recognition that they received from those who watched them during this year.

At the All-East musical, where elementary students from various area schools came to watch the Show Choir perform, the Show Choir is pictured in one of their exuberant poses, showing their talent and abilities. The program was enjoyed by everyone.

Mr. Kent Keating practices diligently with the students to teach them the art of beautiful music. Many long hours were spent practicing to reach the point of perfection.

Spunky juniors prowl around on a learning experience

At 6 a.m. on the morning of March 17, while most of Iowa was fast asleep, 160 juniors from all over Polk County were loading their most sacred belongings (pillows, cameras and munchies) aboard buses that would take them to either Washington, D.C., or New York, for the United Nations Tour.

In order to be selected, the students wrote essays and turned in recommendations from business and community leaders. With a sure stroke of Lady Luck, all the applications that were turned in by East High students were chosen-42! "These particular students were possibly the most outstanding in quality that have ever applied to go on the United Nations Tour," said Mr. Stan Thompson, sponsor.

Lasting 10 days, the trip excited everyone. It was filled with different kinds of students from various high schools. Once they arrived at their destination, they all experienced, first-hand, the difference between the Midwest and the East Coast. Once there, the group did a whirl-wind tour of Washington D.C., and New York City, taking in the sights, touring everything they possibly could and getting a real feel of both cities. They saw and explored two unique and very important places in our culture.

Several places toured in New York were the Statue of Liberty, Empire State Building, United Nations Building and Madison Square Gardens, along with several other sites. While in Washington, D.C., the group saw the Vietnam Memorial, the White House, the Capitol and many other exciting national monuments and memorials.

Take it from the experience of years of students who have participated in this tour: If you've got the chance to go, go, because you'll never experience anything like this again.

Preparing for an exciting trip can sometimes be very difficult, especially when it comes to what you wear!

Students learn about governments

Representing East High this year for the "close-up" of Washington, D.C. were juniors Bobbi Pope and Eric Hall. They were very excited about how the trip turned out, and hope to return again someday.

This year East High was blessed with not one, but two lucky juniors (Erik Hall, Bobbi Pope) who were chosen to go on the "Close Up" tour to Washington, D.C. Both showed an interest in how our government works and handles major issues. More than 23,000 students from all over the United States showed the same interests as these two.

During the week, students have the opportunity to question senators, representatives, administration officials, reporters, lobbyists and policymakers about what they do and where they stand on national and international issues.

The sponsor for this activity was Mr. James Bush, social science teacher. Both Erik and Bobbi learned to appreciate the hard work the people in the government must do.

This year, a group of students worked and studied specific issues about two countries (Rumania, Hungary). Resolutions were debated in the fall at the capitol on the Governors' U.N. Day.

Over 100 countries were represented from schools all over the state of Iowa. These students talked about several major world problems at the University of Northern Iowa April 13-15.

Sponsors for this trip were Mr. Stan Thompson and Mr. Fred Vanderley, who spent numerous mornings helping these fine students prepare for the Model U.N. Conference.

Various cultures hit East

East was very fortunate to sponsor seven foreign-exchange students from numerous places around the world. They arrived from such countries as Brazil, Sweden, Finland, the Philippines, Germany, Spain and France. They arrived with bright outlooks and optimistic minds.

When asked what their thoughts and feelings were about East High, they replied as follows.

Rafael Murgel, Brazil: "This is my third year at East and I still love the different opportunities to meet all kinds of new people. The different school system still amazes me because back in Brazil, we cannot choose subjects, and seniors have to take 22 subjects. That means taking different classes every day."

Anders Hansson, Sweden: "East is a new type of school for me and it's much, much different from school in Sweden. It's much bigger, students can choose more classes, and it's a lot more relaxing than where I come from."

Sascha Roeder, West Germany: "It's a great school. I love the school spirit and am enjoying it a lot."

Mike Leonsaari, Finland: "At first the experience was different because my school in Finland had only 600 students. After I got to know the people and places, it got to be fun. It's a nice place and people here have been friendly."

Herzok Sy, The Philippines: "It's a nice school and it's really big. I got lost the first day. There's a lot of school spirit, nice teachers and friendly students."

Alfonso Jaen, Spain: "I like it very, very much. We have a lot of things to do in which students can be involved."

The students enjoyed their stay at East and promised to keep in touch.

American way of life was a part of his stay.

Foreign clubs busy with activities

The French Club succeeded in being purposeful this year, and a lot of activities were planned. Such things as a fall dance were prepared to earn money to be given to the Bethel Mission. This money was to be used on Thanksgiving for the less fortunate.

French Club sweatshirts were designed and made by the club officers Johnny Mackin, president; and Dave Maxwell, acting secretary-treasurer. The annual winter holiday dinner took place at the Embassy Club in downtown Des Moines.

The ultimate goal of the French Club was to send 13 students from East High to St. Etienne, France, during spring break, for two weeks. To help defray the cost for this rewarding trip, the French Club sold candy. Ms. Susan Lorence was the sponsor.

Priorities: Dedication and leadership

The gifted and talented student group, also known as G/T, was created for exceptionally talented students in fields like art and music, and includes those students who are intellectually gifted. The program, sponsored by Ms. Anda Liepa, offers them an opportunity to do more challenging activities than are offered to them in the regular classroom.

Students were chosen for the group by an IQ test given to them in elementary school, as well as by teacher recommendations. Many East students qualified for the group; however, the state of Iowa requires that only 3 percent of the school population may belong to G/T.

G/T is set up by the government and receives government funding to provide activities to help students cope with the extra pressure created by their talents.

The Students in Leadership Program (SIL), sponsored this year by Mrs. Susan Stroope is designed to increase the leadership qualities of students and to encourage involvement in school and community by building awareness of individual and group leadership capabilities. Members of SIL are selected on the basis of demonstrated and potential leadership ability. Students must exhibit interest in leadership development activities and commitment to the program.

When the 1987-88 school year ended, most students were looking forward to a summer free of homework. For 16 East High students, along with 131 students from schools throughout Southeast Iowa, the summer would be spent attending Upward Bound.

Upward Bound is a pre-college program for high school students. Upward Bound is federally funded and seeks to find high school students with post-secondary potential. The students spent six weeks, June 9-July 22, 1988, living in dorms on Central College's campus, taking classes, eating college food and participating in a variety of social activities.

During the school year, the students kept in contact with two reunions and a special reunion at the Ingersoll Dinner Theater to watch "Guys and Dolls." Students from each school also attended an interesting play, movie or dinner at a fancy restaurant together. East students were also required to attend meetings with Mr. Jack Bryan, sponsor, to prepare for college. The East students attended "Cats" at the Civic Center Oct. 6, 1988. It was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Career Beginnings, with Mr. Don Graves as adviser, is a business/college partnership which assists industrious teenagers in completing high school and securing a full-time job or college admission after completing high school. The teenagers who participate in the program start as juniors and have the potential to succeed, yet are faced with obstacles which may prevent them from ever entering college. These barriers include weak academic skills, family responsibilities, financial constraints and/or a lack of a career direction. Sponsored by Des Moines Area Community College, the program offers monthly workshops at the urban campus to prepare students for college.

Futures in business are built at East

Although not many people heard about New Horizons, this program celebrated its twentieth anniversary this year.

Under the direction of Ms. Fannie Wilson, this group involved 108 students. Mr. Paul Mann was brought in on a half-time basis to help during the second semester, because the group was so large.

This program provided an incentive for students to stay in school. It found jobs for them and it also taught them how to fill out various applications, how to write letters of resignation and many other skills.

This program was flexible and catered to the students' needs, which is why they loved it so much.

A "new look" swept over the Business Department. The Office Education Association changed its name to the Business Professionals of America.

Business Professionals taught students how to work effectively with others and how to take advantage of every opportunity.

From Feb. 27 through March 1, students attended a state leadership conference at the Howard Johnson Hotel on Merle Hay Road.

Business Professionals had many fundraisers — cheese, sausage, jewelry, and calendars, just to name a few.

"Business Professionals of America has helped me a lot, from learning state capitals to learning to succeed in the business world," said Laurie Rogers, BPA president.

Senior Lavonne Gilbert shows senior Jack Ficek where a particular book is that he wanted to check out. This was just one of the many jobs that a library assistant did. Other jobs were alphabetizing newspaper clippings for the vertical file and checking out books.

You were sitting in the middle of second hour, when you suddenly heard a voice calling, "Excuse me, but do you have so-and-so in class?" The teacher gave an exasperated "Yes," and the voice replied, "Well, could you send him to the office after class?" The teacher answered "Sure."

This activity was only one of the many jobs of office assistants. There were three main places they worked: the counseling center, the attendance center and the main office. Each place had different tasks for the assistant to do, such as answering the phone in the attendance center or handing out passes to see counselors.

To be an office assistant, the students had to have a "C" average. The assignment usually took the place of a study hall.

Whenever you went into the library this year, you probably saw someone your own age behind one of the desks.

Twenty students were library assistants this year. To have such a privilege as this, you had to have a "C" average and be enthusiastic.

Library assistants helped anyone who needed assistance, alphabetized newspaper clippings for the vertical file and performed many other tasks.

Two people were assigned for every period of the day, and they worked in the library instead of going to study hall.

East debaters show essentials for future

The forensics team, or, in clearer terms, the debate team, was a younger team than usual, but they carried this weight and proved their success. Debating is a skill that only a certain few can handle. Directed by Mr. Mike Miller, debate students were able to build their skills of critical thinking, research and communication. These skills became more than a necessity for students who wanted to achieve higher goals.

This year, the greatest success was achieved by juniors Steve Zeliadt and Karrie Nicholson. As strong debaters, they advanced to final rounds in most of their tournaments. At the Valley Tournament, they were the first East team to make it to final rounds at Valley. Another tournament that proved successful for East was the Hoover Tournament, where junior Steve Zeliadt and senior David Primm had a 4-1 record, being the best record at Hoover.

The highlight of the season was the Lincoln, Nebr., tournament where the two leading juniors, Steve and Karrie, were once more named champs. They rated high over 29 other teams; this placed them the highest in Iowa. Since this was the last season tournament, they ended the year with a bang.

Ending the long list of achievements, these students debated on a variety of subjects like retirement, socialism, nuclear war, censorship and policies related to political, economic and foreign issues. These subjects were assigned and discussed in various ways: humorous, oral and dramatic interpretation; original oratory; extemporaneous speaking; individual event; and mock trial.

Mock trial and individual event were forensic areas in which East's debaters shined throughout the year. Mock trial dealt with the real courts and judicial systems within the state, which included the basic simulation of the legal system. The mock trial students presented their cases as lawyers and witnesses dealing with Battered Women's Syndrome. They were basically trying to see if it was self defense, manslaughter or first-and second degree murder. Mrs. Margaret Faidley, former forensics teacher, helped them pursue their cases throughout the season.

Individual event is another area for those debaters who felt they could research and present a case that appealed to their sense of clear presentation and concise speaking abilities, without letting their academic grades fall. Summing up the year was junior Steve Zeliadt, who said, "A lot of hard work, dedication and time made it hard, but the friends I made and the excitement of debate were great rewards."

Senior McCeil King seems to be anxiously awaiting for a reasonable response from junior Steve Zeliadt, who appears to be amused at what she just asked. The topic of discussion was "Battered Women's Syndrome." This discussion ranged from serious parts of a case (which brought out every kind of emotion) to other parts of a case, like this one, which seemed to have a humorous undertone.

Research and more research — that was just some of what debate and mock trial require students to do. Juniors Amy Black and Steve Zeliadt seem as though they are interested as senior McCeil King finds a topic to research. With the new debate teacher, Mr. Mike Miller, they put all new strategies and methods to good use and built them into their cases. Being serious about serious issues and discussing them in depth was just a portion of what debate and mock trial dealt with.

Juniors Steve Zeliadt and Karrie Nicholson cart out all the information they need in order to study what they are to speak about in their next debating tournament.

Clubs raise money through concessions

The East High Booster Club was one of the largest in the nation. The group, which was made up of a 20-member executive board met the second Tuesday of every month.

Mr. John Walker, president, along with vice-president Dick Upchurch, treasurer Nancy Sheets and secretary Carolyn Upchurch, led the group of parents, friends, alumni and fans of East High.

If you wanted to become a member, you had to contact a current member and pay a $5 fee, which was only one way the club raised money. They also sold the signs hanging in the big gym, ran the baseball/softball concession stand and sponsored Pancake Day April 29.

With the money they raised, they bought new equipment for the Science Department, replaced junior Joe Madison's $500 glasses, donated $750 for the Red and Black Scholarship, and donated $750 to a new Scholarship, the East High School Booster Club Scholarship.

The Parent-Teacher-Student Association (PTSA) was a group that tried to provide funding for whatever was needed at East. Their major fund-raiser was the concession stands. With the profits from these stands, they paid for half of the new curtains in the auditorium, paid for the academic letters, arranged receptions for the letterwinners and The National Honors Society, bought two new portable whirlpools for the Athletic Department and paid for and sponsored the PTSA Newsletter (Scarlet Communique).

Sales classes find hard work pays off

Third hour for Mrs. Nancy Hansen and fifth hour for Mr. Ross Heaton, Business Education teachers, meant teaching juniors and seniors about the career of sales.

The first few weeks were devoted to preparing these students to go out into the community and sell ads for the yearbook. Before going out into the field, students did bookwork and gave mock sales presentations on products that they had researched, and tried to sell those products to classmates. Then it was out into the field, to show how much they learned those first few weeks. Selling the actual ads was the "on-the-job" training.

Students found out while selling that the most popular sizes of ads were the 1/8 page and the 1/16 page; any individual or company who bought a full-page ad received a complimentary copy of the Quill Yearbook.

The text which was used during this course was divided into five units which stressed the buying and selling process.

So that students could learn the process of how sales people make a living, they were paid a 5% commission for the ads they sold.

After the completion of this class, students were prepared to get an entry-level sales position in business.

BAC gives advice on school policies

The guidelines of the Building Advisory Committee (BAC) state that "BACs are building advisory organizations which serve the local building and consider district-wide issues as they relate to the building's instructional program." The council was an advisory group. The members, which included Principal Jerry Stilwell, five teachers, five parents and five students, suggested policies and gave feedback on policies. The group's guidelines also state: "If the primary purpose of the BAC is to advise the principal, the secondary purpose must certainly be to aid the principal in communicating the purposes, tenor and tone of the school to the community it serves."

Scarlets show spirit through caring

The Physical Education Opportunity Program for Exceptional Learners, otherwise known as PEOPEL PE, was a program to help the special education students adjust from small classes to a big group of people taking gym class.

The group was made up of 24 peer helpers, who assisted the special education persons in dressing for gym and helping them with the various activities they did, such as touch football, volleyball, basketball, dodgeball, roller skating and the very popular bowling.

The program had been around for about six years. To be a part of it, the students had to have average grades and be recommended by a teacher. They were also asked to help during the week as a tutor for some kids in the program.

The Teen Leadership Connection, better known as TLC, had a busy and fun-filled year with meetings on Friday mornings at 7:20 and many varied activities and speakers. Mr. Carl Cain, Iowa Power's liaison with East High, gave a motivational talk to TLC members at one meeting. Mr. Dave Roevers, a Viet Nam veteran, spoke at an all-school assembly sponsored by TLC, which also sponsored The "Tie One-On" campaign with the governor. The group also sponsored The Great American Smokeout to reduce teen cigarette smoking.

The purpose of the group's activities was to encourage positive peer pressure against destructive behavior, using students who were willing to be a part of the group. Senior Laurie Rogers said, "TLC has given students a chance to get involved in different areas of education. It has taught us as individuals to be concerned about our fellow students."

Discussions of major problems offered excellent advice to those who were willing to listen. These discussions offered members physical, social, spiritual and mental sources to solve problems which were always around them. Meetings were held at members' houses. The meetings were meant to be fun, but they were also serious. Meetings started out with games and activities; then they progressed into discussing problems important to them.

With the directors, Mr. Bill Campbell and Mr. Todd Dahlgren, students were able to discuss family problems, drugs and alcohol, friendships, dating and religious opinions, without feeling lost in the false meanings that make most of these problems appear.

The Art Club was made up of students interested in art, whether or not they took an art class. Eleven Art Club members met every Tuesday after school. This group was open to anyone who wanted to attend. There were no membership dues, no officers, no constitution and nothing to sell, all of which made being in this club more enjoyable without the hassle of non-important things.

This year the Art Club visited a lot of fascinating places: the Salisbury House, the Des Moines Art Center, The Des Moines Register's Art Department and Drake University. Parties were also given for holidays and other special occasions.

The Art Club was sponsored by Mr. Steve Sams and Mr. Jerry Goodrich, art teachers. Mr. Sams said, "We hope that the Art Club will provide an opportunity to become acquainted with art-related job opportunities and some of the cultural opportunities within the community."

Central Campus — a different experience

We've all heard those announcements saying "morning Central Campus this" and "afternoon Central Campus that," but do we really know what Central Campus is? Central Campus is an academic-vocational school which is designed to help students from all of the schools in the Greater Des Moines area. The students spend half their day at Central Campus and the other half of their day here at East. Central Campus offers a variety of courses not offered at East. Russian, German and Japanese are among the foreign languages offered at Central Campus. Radio broadcasting, television, aviation, nursing and auto mechanics are just a few of the other kinds of courses offered.

Air Force Junior ROTC aims high

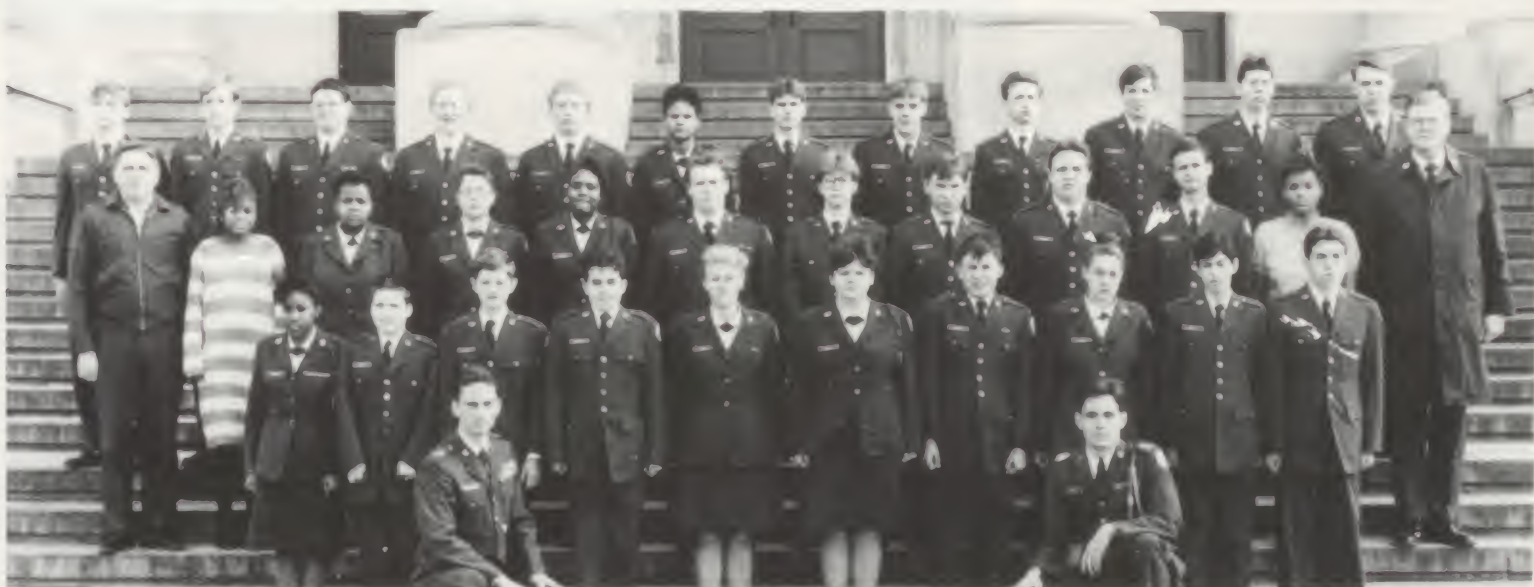

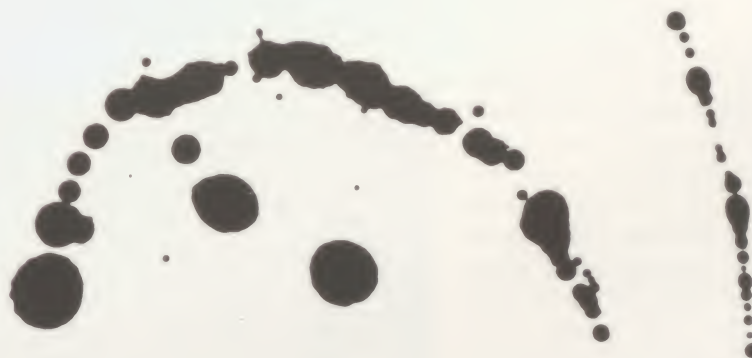

The AFJROTC Color Guard presents the colors with pride and discipline during the pregame festivities at a home basketball game.

This year the Color Guard of the Air Force Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps performed at a number of East High basketball games. They also performed at several patriotic gatherings sponsored by national civic organizations. The Drill Team competed at several meets. The AFJROTC held a formal military ball and awards night. During the year the group helped with the Special Olympics and the Marines' Toys for Tots.

The AFJROTC students earn academic credit as well as physical education credit through the program. Apart from this, the students benefit in day-to-day life. During part of each week they learn leadership skills and self-discipline. The rest of the week is spent on the study of aerospace. They learn how aircraft fly, and they study weather and air navigation. Space flight is also covered, and the students have the opportunity to build and fly their own rockets. This helps them understand the principles of thrust and drag.

Acting toward a brighter future

Eight students had the honor of qualifying for the International Thespian Society. They were Tracye Ainsworth, Kristi Braden, Shannon Coleman, Elaine Cook, Caly Howe, Nicole Jacobsen, Sone Philavanh and Jessica Whitlock. The sponsors of East's Thespians were Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines, director of the Drama Department, and Ms. Jill Shaeffer, teacher of speech and creative writing.

To be in the International Thespian Society, a student had to acquire 10 points on the society's Official Point System. One point was about 10 hours of the best theater work possible (this requirement indicated the elite standards of members). Included in the 10 point requirement was activity in at least two full-length school productions.

The main purpose of Drama Club was to support the Drama Department. Drama Club's advisers were Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines and Ms. Jill Shaeffer. The officers were junior Kristi Braden, president; junior Caly Howe, vice-president; senior Tracye Ainsworth, secretary; junior Elaine Cook, treasurer; and junior Jessica Whitlock, sergeant-at-arms.

Drama Club met the first and third Tuesdays of each month before school. Bake sales, candy sales and talent shows all helped to raise money for the Drama Department. Drama Club not only participated in East's acting activities, but they also saw plays and went on field trips.

* * *

Scarlet Vibrations' main purpose was improving public relations for East. Students learned the art of oral and silent communication from Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines, director of the group. This was the first year Scarlet Vibrations acted and performed silent communication. They performed at scores of events at East and in the Des Moines area. Scarlet Vibrations toured with the play "Dolls" and traveled performing this and other skits and plays.

TURED: Shannon Coleman, Caly Howe, Nicole Jacobsen, Sone Philavanh. Thespians was a new group at East this year.

len, Curt Schachtner. NOT PICTURED: Kristi Braden, (President), Caly Howe (Vice-president), Tracye Ainsworth (Secretary), Elaine Cook (Treasurer), Jessica Whitlock (Sergeant-at-arms).

Students improve on valuable skills

COMPUTER CLUB. ROW 1: Bryan Jones, Derek Freeze. ROW 2: Mr. Andy Shaffer, David Wignall.

The East High School Computer Club was sponsored by a computer teacher, Mr. Andy Shaffer. Small in number, yet large in goals, the Computer Club met Tuesday afternoons for one hour. Strategic thinking skills were used in mind-boggling computer games. The students also were involved in other diverse experiences, especially advanced programming, which expanded horizons and guided students to intellectual gains. Computers have become almost inevitable in any vocational field.

* * *

Assemblies, sporting events, plays, musical concerts and various club meetings could not be heard or seen without the work of the light-and-sound crew. Handling music, lights and microphones, this crew made sure that East's events ran smoothly. Sponsored by Mr. Dave Frost, the crew was truly an asset for crucially timed activities.

* * *

Headed by Mr. Ted Christensen, Home Remodeling did exactly what its name implied: remodel homes. Home Remodeling was a three-hour course that gave the student 1-½ credits per semester. New Horizons funded the Home Remodeling project this year.

MORNING HOME REMODELING. ROW 1: Mr. Ted Christensen (Teacher). ROW 2: Raymond Dudley, Ted Beveridge, Rick Corbin. ROW 3: Jim Padgett, Brent Griffin.

AFTERNOON HOME REMODELING. Bill Snitker, Greg Shepherd, Pat Waters, Shane Smith, Mr. Ted Christensen (Teacher).

QUICK HOSPITAL COVERAGE

Time's Short Term Medical plans provide fast low cost "interim" coverage. If you're in between jobs, recently graduated or discharged from service.

You have a choice of coverage periods. And the policy can be issued on the spot. That quick? Of course, there's no coverage for pre-existing conditions. Interested? Call us for full details.

A Continuing Partnership

PRIDE

It's a feeling of accomplishment. Accomplishment in learning, in making friends and in knowing the years spent at East High have been the very best.

PRIDE

It demands the hard work and support of everyone. This total commitment has carried East to the pinnacle. And it is this same commitment that will keep East High No.1.

PRIDE

Iowa Power also shares this.

PRIDE

in the many East high programs and their participants.

PRIDE

in the student body.

PRIDE

in the community, and

PRIDE

in our continuing alliance with East.

The students of East are the leaders of tomorrow. Leaders who will someday serve in government, business and the community. As the journey into the future becomes reality, Iowa Power will also be there.

To the 88-89 Color Guard

The 88-89 Color Guard Seniors wish good luck to the 89-90 Color Guard.

We have been through some rough spots but thanks to the awesome attitudes and abilities of our loyal members, we pulled together and excelled to the top to become the best Color Guard in the Midwest!

To the awesome senior colorguard

As you take the next step in life, look back and remember all of the time we spent together.

Whether good or bad, it has proven that we are not only a Color Guard, we are a family.

Good luck in everything you do and never forget that we were the "Super Guard!"

Several new teachers were added second semester. Mrs. Carolyn Strickler was added to the staff as a half-time Special Education teacher. Mr. Paul Mann was added as a half-time New Horizons teacher. Mr. Bill Ackerman replaced Mrs. Carol White in School Within a School second semester, and Mrs. Jeanne Jorgensen took Mr. Ackerman's place as social science teacher.

Twelve students and two teachers, Ms. Sue Lorence and Mrs. Margaret Severino, took a trip to Saint Etienne, France, March 17-31. The first week there they attended school at Lycée du Portail Rouge. The second week they were on vacation. During vacation, each student's host family showed her/him the sights of Saint Etienne. Last year, some of the students from the host families visited East High and Des Moines during spring break.

Odyssey of the Mind was a new club that began second semester. Sponsored by Mr. Dave Frost, the members were given a project and competed to give a better presentation than other high schools.

Indiana Stroope dominates the 'classroom of doom'!

Mrs. Susan Stroope, teacher of science holding the "head" of one of her former students? She will do almost anything to capture the attention of her students. She could be seen as a witch on Halloween and a palm-reading gypsy at the Spree dance.

"Mrs. Stroope is a very dedicated teacher. She works very hard and she makes a great scout mother on our camping trips, even though her spaghetti leaves something to be desired!" commented Mr. Ray Patrilla, teacher of science. Mrs. Stroope is among a staff of teachers who are committed to building excellence in education.

Almost every street in East High had a NEW LOOK, from new uniforms for the performing groups to new faces in the school administration. Every NEW LOOK needed something and price in East High and the Town. Although many NEW LOOKS were new, the tradition that has not changed is East High School's dedication to the "Service of Humanity."
